Dist. 34 eyes radical switch in grade structure

by GLORIA DAVIS

A committee consisting of 20 teachers, parents and board members, has been formed by the Board of Education of Antioch Grade School Dist. 34, to consider the changing of the school district's boundaries and a change in the district's class structure.

According to Dist. 34 Supt. Don Skidmore, a change in the class structure to two grade levels per school building instead of the present K5 structure would make better use of each building and the district's human resources.

The need for such a change has been brought about because of the inequity of the class sizes, leaving empty seats in some classrooms, others overcrowded and necessitating the hiring of aides for the larger classes.

CLC head to speak to Chambers

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry will hold its next general membership meeting on Monday, Oct. 19, at the Patio Restaurant on Rte. 173.

Hospitality will be from 6-7 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7 p.m., with the program, featuring Daniel J. LaVista, Ph.D., new president of the College of Lake County, the main speaker.

LaVista views CLC as a "comprehensive community college" concerned with transfer programs, career education, and retraining programs, basic education, professional and personal growth, economic development and commitment to cultural arts.

He will speak on ways that business and education can assist one another in fostering a healthy economic environment.

The cost of the banquet is $6.50 per person. Reservations can be made through the Chamber office. For more information call (312) 395-2233.

Antioch's autumn aura

Fall's colors have burst onto the Antioch scene, gaily decorating its streets and parks with splashes of crimson, gold and russet that rival the hues on any artist's palette. Antioch has an ordinance banning burning of leaves. They are to be bagged and left for garbage pick-up. Twigs and branches must be cut finely and bagged if same pick-up is to be used. — Photo by John Doetsch

ACHS candidates ignore issues, interested in academic values

With five candidates running for the three open seats on the Antioch High School Board in the Nov. 3 election, two incumbents and three newcomers are busy campaigning.

Incumbent Frank Walsh, Jr., 49, has been on the board for seven-and-one-half years and hopes to add to that tenure by being reelected on Nov. 3.

He is involved in the school board's deliberation over using the weighted grades program, wherein higher level classes get more credit.

"The administration has always done a good job taking its time in properly evaluating programs before acting," Walsh said.

He added that, "I think the school is doing well for the students, the programs are getting better and better and lots of the kids are going on to college."

Walsh is a native of Antioch, graduating from ACHS in 1956. He is married and has four children that have gone through the Antioch school system.

He is a dispatcher for Commonwealth Edison and has been active in the community with children's programs for a long time.

He started the boys' iceless hockey program which has grown until almost 1,000 boys and girls are involved.

He was also active in Little League and participated in the Scouting program as a Cubmaster.

Mike Zeien, the other incumbent seeking reelection, said, "I feel that I have something to put into the system and if elected will continue to do as I have been for the last two years."

Zeien, 42, is married and has four children, two of which have gone through the Antioch school system and two who are still at Antioch High School.

He also works for Commonwealth Edison.

Jan Ranney, a candidate for a seat on the Board of Education of Antioch Community High School Dist. 117, has been a resident of Dist. 117 since 1970.

She received her bachelor of arts degree from Michigan State University in 1965, with a major in mathematics education and a minor in history.

She was a teacher of mathematics and history in Lansing, Mich. secondary schools from 1965-68.

Ranney was a member of the Emmons Grade School Board since April 1979. She was secretary of the school board from 1979 to 1981 and 1985 to 1987.

Ranney has been a member of the (Continued on Page 8)

In ICU, little things mean a lot.

The intensive care unit of Northern Illinois Medical Center is a focal point for the advanced technology and modern medicine that a critically ill or injured person needs. Our experienced physicians and highly trained staff work day and night treating and monitoring patients, watching for—and responding to—the subtle signs of change . . . the small suggestions of progress.

But many times a patient's "needs" don't register on a heart monitor. So in addition to the sophisticated skills and procedures used to care for our critical patients, we understand the importance of those little things that can help make a difference.

Like having a loved one at bedside. For more information about NIMC's Intensive Care Unit, write to us . . . or

Christmas is creeping closer to Antioch area

by CAROLYN HAMMOND
(312)395-6081
Christmas must be coming—the bazaars and sales are popping up all over. Actually, Christmas is 70 days away, giving you only 69 shopping days. Seems to be closer if you think about it that way! The stores won't let you forget; they'll have all their decorations ready to go up as soon as Halloween is over.

The ladies of the Antioch United Methodist Church will hold a bazaar from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 17, with a lunch being served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Cost of the meal is $3.95. Come and start your holiday shopping; baked goods will also be available.

The Antioch Viking Lightweight and Heavyweight teams also met their match losing 13-0 and 21-0 respectively to Winnetka.
The heavyweights got off to a bad start and were down 14-0 in the first minutes of play. They played well after that, holding back an overpowering Winnetka team until late in the fourth quarter. Special defensive honors go to guard Dan English, end John Stendl, and guard Scott Jones.

Next week the Vikings meet Highland Park home at ACHS. Starting times are 12:45 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.
The Featherweight Eagle Squad traveled to Winnetka for their game and lost, 32-0.

lineman Jason Tate, and linebacker David Reisch. A super team effort put the team in the winning column.
In the Bears game against Mundelein Team One, inside linebacker Andy Biaggi ran a reverse in for a touchdown and also made an interception for another. Overall good team play led by quarterback Jim Dawe and defensive tackles Rich Eigen and Chuck Miller led to the 12-0 win.

In the girls' iceless hockey league, results as of Oct. 10 are:

First-second grade: Kings 3, Sabers 1; Bruins 6, North Stars 2; Maple Leafs 9, Red Wings 4; Blackhawks 8, Rangers 5.
In the third to fifth grade Red Division: Islanders 6, Sabers 4;

Rangers 3, Blackhawks 1; Whalers 4, Flyers 4; and Maple Leafs 4, Red Wings 1.
In the third to fifth grade Yellow Division: Bruins 6, Blackhawks 4; Islanders 8, Red Wings 3; Penguins 5, Rangers 5; and Whalers 4, Flyers 1.

News & Notes

If you would like to take a short ride up into Wisconsin and enjoy the color along the way, the rummage sale at St. Irene Byzantine Catholic Church is for you.

The church is located in the Old Woodward School building, Hwy. 50 and MB in Bristol. Sale hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 16 and Saturday, Oct. 17. There will be food, drink and lots of bargains.

Speaking of food—Moms, don't cook on Sunday, Oct. 18, but come over to Boy Scout Troop 92's 27th annual spaghetti dinner to be held at the Antioch Moose Lodge 525, from noon to 7 p.m. Tickets are $3.50 with children under age six dining free. Wonder just how many gallons of sauce they've made over the years?

Do you know Oct. 16 is Boss' Day?

This weekend in Antioch, winning was not in the cards for a majority of Antioch's football teams. Oh well, you have those kinds of weeks!

The ACHS Sequoit Varsity squad dropped a heart-breaker to arch-rival Warren, losing 16-14. The sophomores went down to defeat 12-6, with only the freshmen coming out in the win column 7-6.

The news was better for the rest of the featherweights, as the Bears beat Mundelein, 12-0; the Seahawks dumped McHenry, 31-0; and the Raiders won, 31-0, against a Mundelein team.

The Raiders' win was their fifth shutout in a row, with touchdowns by quarterback Jim Lubkeman, running back Bob Scroggin, two touchdowns from running back Cliff Moore, and one from wingback Jon Smith.

Good running by Pat Duggin gave them the extra point. Defensive honors go to guard Jim Miller, linebackers Adam Becker and Richie Weber, and safety Robby Holbach.

Good blocking all season from offensive tackle "Satch" Utinans has contributed to the many wins. Also having a good day running was running back Tony Gardin.

The Seahawks' win gave halfback Brady Maher a great birthday present along with offensive honors. Also outstanding in the game were quarterback Matt Yates, offensive guard Marty Kuhb, linebacker Jason Breen, defensive

Officials study options for treatment of waste

With uncertainty surrounding all proposals to fund the necessary expansion of the Fox Lake sanitary treatment plant, which serves the Northwest Region, a subcommittee of the Northwest Regional Advisory Committee has hired a consultant to investigate two alternatives: creation of a regional sanitary district and resurrection of the old Round Lake Sanitary Dist.

Harold Warren of Highland Park is the consultant. He has performed bond work for most local municipalities and throughout Illinois and Wisconsin.

The subcommittee is actually two committees in one: it is an adjunct of the Northwest Advisory Committee and an ad hoc committee. It has retained Rudy Magna Jr. of Gurnee as its attorney.

The Round Lake Sanitary Dist. is providing funding for the attorney and consultant. Magna is also the attorney for the Round Lake Sanitary Dist.

When a plant reaches 80 percent capacity, it must be expanded in order to accommodate new growth. The Fox Lake plant exceeds 80 percent capacity and, because of failed technology in its design, will require over $20 million to expand. Members are depending heavily on state and federal grants to fund most of that expansion.

Even if everything falls into place under the best possible scenario, according to the engineers for the project, it will be two and a half years before any new capacity is available. If grants were to fall through, the plant would have to be financed through local bonds. But because of the complex web of contracts, there are legal questions as to who can issue such bonds. Member communities in the Round Lake area contract with the county for service and the county contracts with Fox Lake for treatment.

Currently, Fox Lake, the Round Lake area, and some unincorporated areas are served by the Northwest Region. Lake Villa is negotiating with the county to go on line and Antioch is an eligible member.

Charles Johnston, chairman of the subcommittee, said that originally, there had been no plans to investigate the option of resurrecting the Round Lake Sanitary Dist., of which he is a trustee.

"For the last three meetings of our subcommittee, only members from the Round Lake area have attended. My concern is that everyone have capacity. But if no one else is interested in having other options available in case things do fall apart, I am determined that the Round Lake area have capacity available," Johnston said.

Round Lake Beach Mayor Carl Schrimpf agreed strongly with that position. "I have a lot of projects going on in my village and I can't afford to just hope for the best," he said, adding that he is investigating the possibility of building a treatment plant for Round Lake Beach.

James Raihle, president of the Round Lake Sanitary Dist., said that funding is provided through the first of the year and then the district will consider how much to provide for 1988. "We need to be prepared, but I am not going to write a blank check," he said.

Johnston concluded, "The most desirable option would be for all grants to come through and expand the Fox Lake treatment plant. That remains the top priority. If it does not, then a regional district is the second most desirable option. But we cannot, under any circumstances, allow another moratorium to stop commercial development in our area."

Most parents fit as fiddles while kids going to pot

by GLORIA DAVIS

Never before have American adults been so much into physical fitness and body building. Men and women are keeping health clubs booming nationwide, with men "working out" and running on a regular basis, besides taking up handball, racquet ball and tennis.

Women are not only into aerobics classes one or two times a week, but they too are working out on the resistance machines and taking up strenuous sports like racquet ball.

The adult world is on a diet, a fact

Wilmot and Central High Schools have required PE a few times a week, starting with a short exercise period. Antioch High School has their students in PE classes every day but the classes mostly involved moderately vigorous team play and some exercise.

Even with these schools trying hard to keep children physically fit, parents are often the problem.

Many of the excuses parents use to keep their children out of PE classes are legitimate but many are the product of parents coerced by children who are simply too lazy or girls who don't want to get messed up.

When I Think About It

that has created new "low cal" food and drink empires.

Are American children following in their parent's Reeboks? Not according to new stats just released by the U.S. Dept. of Health.

A glance down the row of statistics concerning a very "over-televsioned" generation of school-age children, shows McDonalds and Burger King have taken their toll. (There is approximately 15 tablespoons of fat in one cheeseburger and an order of fries.)

Never before have American children been so overweight as a whole and never before have the majority been unable to perform simple physical fetes that under President John Kennedy's physical fitness era were commonplace.

There are many school systems that require very little physical education unless the jumping jacks, etc. are in connection with team sports, which of course involve a minority of students.

But locally, although parents should not depend on their schools to supply all the exercise their children need, Bristol Grade School and Riverview and others in Kenosha County have supervised PE classes two and three times a week, starting with five minutes of calisthenics and often involving vigorous team play.

The Antioch grade school system has required PE classes three times a week at the elementary level and every school day at the junior high level. These classes are similar to the Wisconsin classes and the President's Physical Fitness Program is still stressed here also.

Nationally, according to, Don Morriss of Cal-Poly Tech and Jane Brodey, New York Times health editor, most American children will watch tv instead of getting exercise and most parents are not monitoring the sedentary times against actual physical involvement. Today's kids are driven to most activities, a small percentage ride bikes, most of these 10-speed which necessitate very little physical exertion and very few walk any distance at all.

Over 60 percent of six year old children tested could not do 20 situps in one minute and 25 percent of older age groups could not pass minimum physical tests.

Only 30 percent of 15 boys tested could do five successive chin-ups while only one girl could do them.

The military has actually softened its basic training requirements compared to those employed several years ago in the interest of having a decent amount of trainees pass.

Locally, children are involved in many more outside activities than those living in urban areas.

Maybe parents who are busy concentrating on their own health and fitness should stop and take a good look at their kids who may not be measuring up physically, despite the fact that they live in a physical fitness boom age.

This better be done quickly before we spawn a generation of physically weak adults who will have life spans shortened appreciably by heart attacks, ect., say health experts.

Remember, "a nation is only as strong as its youth."

Dist. 34

Antioch Upper Grade, W. C. Petty and Antioch Upper Grade would, under one proposal, have all kindergarten and first grade classes in one building, all second and third grade classes in another, all fourth and fifth grade classes in the third building and all junior high classes in the fourth.

The other three alternatives would be to add another addition onto the lower grade school; move lower grade students to either Oakland or Petty; take the entire fifth grade class from the lower grade school and split them between Oakland and AUGS.

"None of the last three alternatives completely satisfy the problems at a reasonable cost, nor do they promise classes of a more equal size," said Skidmore who, at the last regular meeting of the board, recommended the formation of a study committee to review the problem of equity of facilities and human resources.

In 1986, the Lake Villa School Dist. went successfully through the same type of restructuring.

She is married to Dr. Michael Ranney, who currently practices at the Lakes Animal Clinic in Antioch. She has three children.

"We need to maximize the educational opportunities for our students, while minimizing future tax increases," Ranney said. "Quality education needs dedicated, educated, experienced school board members. I have those qualities, plus the interest, the ability and the integrity to serve on the ACHS Board of Education."

Lauerl Dahl, has lived in Antioch for four years but she has worked there for six and her husband has had a business in the village for 10 years.

She is a clerk at the Antioch Village Hall and the Dahl's have two children at Antioch High School.

She has served on PTO and church boards and is running for a seat on the high school board, "because I would like to know that the programs and curriculum at the high school offer students development academically, physically and socially and that they will allow growth in all those areas."

Newcomer Paul Ashley, 41, moved to Antioch a year ago from Lindenhurst where he served as village administrator. He is now the general manager for U. S. CABL.

He is married and has a daughter who is a senior at Antioch High School and a son who is a sophomore.

He has served as city manager in both Illinois and Michigan and is the past president of the Lindenhurst Planning Commission.

He feels his education, which includes a two year fellowship at the University of Michigan in community leadership, will be a great asset if he is elected to the high school board.

He believes his experience in dealing with local units of government and his extensive educational background will help him in working towards the formulation of the best quality of education possible for ACHS students.

District electors who want to hear the candidates state their positions and field questions from the audience should attend a "Meet the Candidates Night," set for Monday, Oct. 26, starting at 7:15 p.m. in the high school Commons. The evening is sponsored by the American Assn. of University Women. The moderator will be Antioch resident and former Lake County Regional Supt. of Schools Bill Thompson.

ACHS Board

The regular meeting of te Antioch High School Board of Education is held at 7:30 p.m., on the third Thursday of every month at the high school.

—LEGAL— PUBLIC NOTICE

Please take notice, the Chain-O-Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency will commence dredging and related activities in the Chain-O-Lakes, about October 24, 1987, and complete said activities on or about November 30, 1987.

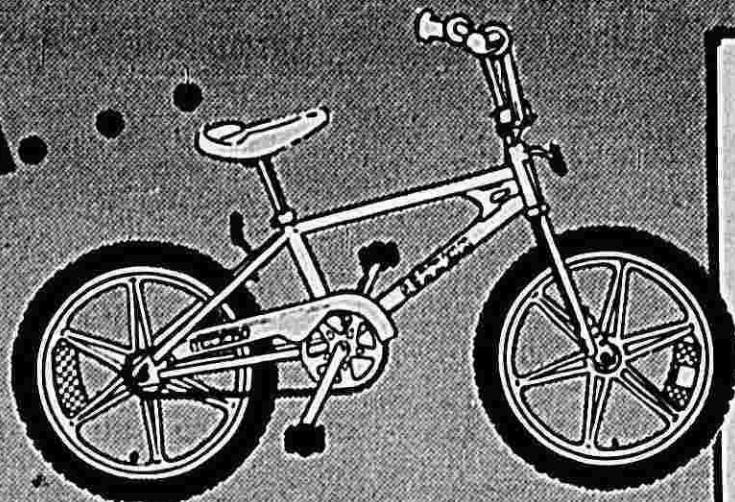

The dredging location will be an 800-foot length of the main navigational channel between Grass and Nippersink Lakes, immediately south of Grass Lake Road Bridge. The floating pipe will extend from the dredge to the Ackerman Island Disposal Site via an east-west channel immediately south of Grass Lake Road (the channel to Cubs Cove Marina).

You are hereby requested to keep at least 100 feet away from all dredge related equipment at all times. A no-wake zone will be established at the dredging location and caution signs will be posted. Flashing amber lights will be mounted at 100-foot intervals along the entire length of the floating pipe and on the dredge.

Dredge ready for its maiden voyage

The Chain O'Lakes/Fox River Waterway Management Agency will begin using its new dredge for the first time on Oct. 24.

Agency Chairman John Soffiatti said training on the dredge began Oct. 14 near Ackerman Island, where dredged material will be deposited. After agency employees spend a couple of weeks learning how to use and maintain the dredge it will be taken to the main navigational channel between Grass and Nippersink Lakes, just south of Grass Lake Rd. Bridge.

Soffiatti said dredging will continue until the end of November, or a little later if the weather holds up.

While the channel is being dredged, there will be a floating pipe extending from the dredge to the Ackerman Island disposal site via an east-west channel immediately south of Grass Lake Rd., near Cubs Cove Marina.

Boaters are instructed to keep at least 100 feet away from all dredge-related equipment at all times. A no-wake zone will be established at the dredging location and caution signs will be posted. Flashing amber lights will be mounted at 100-foot intervals along the entire length of the floating pipe and on the dredge.

Soffiatti said during the winter the dredge will be stored on OMC property at the end of Lippencott in Fox Lake. It will be ready to get right back to work when spring comes.

"It's great to have it out in the water."

Free running program begins

If worried that the approaching cold weather is going to put brakes on one's fitness program, the free "Run For Your Self" program offered by Condell Memorial Hospital of Libertyville could provide the answer. Beginning Monday, Nov. 2, this program offers a warm, dry and well-lit place for area residents to walk, jog or run during the winter months. Continuing through April of 1988, this unsupervised program is held at the gymnasium at the Brainerd Building at Libertyville High School. Registered participants may use the inside track facilities from 6:30 to 7:15 a.m. and from 6:30 to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 8 to 11 a.m. on Saturday. To register, participants must present a note from their physician to the Dept. of Public Relations and Marketing at Condell.

Ivanhoe Church: 150 years, still changing

by ADAM H. KERMAN

"Our congregation is undergoing an important change," commented Wayne Nowack, pastor of the Ivanhoe Congregational Church, during its celebration of its 150th year.

The pastor continued, "An issue facing the congregation is how to deal with the growth of the area. Do we want to remain a small church, where all our members know one another intimately or do we want to expand?" The church has about 150 families.

The church and the Ivanhoe community itself have undergone many transitions over the years. The area was first served by Presbyterian ministers riding the circuit. Then, on February 20, 1838, several families in the area met in the home of Mercy Payne to form the church. It was chartered under the bylaws of the Presbyterian Church in America.

However, the congregation soon grew dissatisfied with the hierarchical structure of the presbyter. Its original members had come from the east, and preferred a self-governing church body. On April 20, 1840, they became Congregationalists.

Nowack explained that the worship service is still very similar to that of the Presbyterians. "We have no special rituals that are unique to our church."

He continued that the congregation does like to worship in a variety of ways. "We once had a minister, who was also a clown, who performed the service entirely without words," said Nowack. He also mentioned that the church has a guitar chorus which will be performing again in several months.

The congregation has faced many controversial issues over the years. According to Robert O. Dunn, who had put together a historic slide presentation, Reverend Joseph Payne was a fierce abolitionist, who decreed that the church shall have no congregants who did not believe that slaveholding was a sin clearly condemned by the bible.

In 1863, the church had welcomed into membership the Joice family, one of the area's first black settlers.

During the 1960's, the church supported the civil rights movement and opposed the Viet Nam War. They still managed to welcome home a few veterans, however.

Nowack said that only a few members of the congregation are second or third generation members of the church. "Some of our families come into the area for a few years, and then move on to other areas."

That trend is changing, however. "More and more of our families are staying in the area. Ivanhoe is where they settle. It's their last stop."

4-H clubs: Not just for farm kids anymore

by KRISTI HAYS

The term '4-H' brings to most people's minds the image of children raising cows or chickens for the county fair, or nursing a lamb back to good health.

Once that was correct, but times have changed. Of the 61 4-H clubs in Lake County, only two are involved in agricultural projects. According to Norma Schott, 4-H advisor for the county, there are over 160 projects available for 4-H'ers, including photography, crafts and computer projects.

Funding for 4-H clubs comes from federal and state taxes, and from groups and organizations on a local level. There is no fee to join and booklets are provided free. Supplies for crafts are not provided, and must be supplied by the 4-H member.

According to Schott, 4-H clubs meet in community settings—schools, community halls or homes. Each club's meeting leader conducts a monthly business meeting. "One of the nice things about 4-H is that they elect officers and run their own meetings. It's nice leadership experience for kids as well," said Schott.

Once in a group, individual 4-H'ers choose a project they want to work on. They are assigned a project leader (a volunteer) and these project groups meet at different times throughout the month.

On a countywide level, 4-H offers a variety of contests between clubs. Share the Fun is an annual talent show in which clubs compete.

Another countywide event is International Night, held at the fairgrounds, when each club picks a country to represent with an exhibit. The public is usually invited.

Once only for farm kids, 4-H has expanded to include a large variety of projects that interest even city kids. Additionally, 4-H provides children the experience of working in and helping organize a group. The Lake County 4-H office is at 33020 Hwy. 45 in Grayslake. For more information, call (312) 223-8629.

A bit of history

Abraham Lincoln was a lieutenant in an Illinois regiment fighting the Blackhawk War when Ivanhoe Congregational Church was built 150 years ago. Congregation numbers about 150 people - one for each year of its existence.

Alcohol and AIDS forum

"Alcohol, Sex and AIDS: The Hidden Connection" is the theme of a public information forum at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 20, at the College of Lake County Auditorium. Tim Zimmerman, AIDS educator for the Cook County Dept. of Health, will lead the forum, which is sponsored by Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse, the CLC Alcohol Education and Referral Office, and Addiction Recovery of Chicago. The program is free and open to the public. Professionals may earn credit toward Illinois Certification Board programs. For more information, contact Joyce Millman at (312) 244-4434.

La Vista to talk to Chambers

All area Chamber of Commerces have been invited to join the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry at its general membership meeting starting at 6 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 19, at the Patio Restaurant on Rte. 173, west of Antioch.

After an hospitality hour and dinner, the main speaker will be Lake County College's new President Daniel J. LaVista, PhD. LaVista will speak to area businessmen on the ways that business and education can bring about a more healthy economic environment through mutual cooperation.

LaVista will answer any questions from the audience after his talk.

Anyone interested in attending should call the Antioch Chamber office, (312) 395-2233.

Lakeland group takes honors in competition

Lakeland Newspapers captured four awards in the 1987 Illinois Press Assn. Newspaper Contest, including first place in the best business story category.

This was the first year IPA offered recognition for outstanding business news writing.

The Lakeland group was also cited for excellence in best classified advertising competition, best home/family section, and investigative and interpretive reporting.

The contest drew more than 2,000 entries from newspapers of all sizes. The Illinois Press Assn. is the largest state press association in the nation.

Awards were presented at the annual fall convention Friday, Oct. 9, held at the Hotel Pierre Marquette, Peoria.

On hand to receive the awards were Publisher and Mrs. William H. Schroeder.

"I was pleased that the Lakeland Newspapers were recognized for advertising quality as well as editorial enterprise. The two go together. You can't have a good newspaper if one or the other is missing," Schroeder observed.

The publisher noted that the entire staff is responsible for producing an award-winning newspaper. He singled out Managing Editor Charles Johnston for individual praise. Johnston wrote both the first place business story and the story cited for investigative and interpretive honors.

The business story focused on the debate created by the proposed Humana Hospital in North Chicago. It explained the difference between tertiary and primary care and presented factual evidence as well as the opinions of many local hospital administrators.

The honor for investigative reporting was for the August, 1986 article revealing the substance of the proposed settlement of Heartland.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Antioch

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry has set its general meeting for Monday, Oct. 19, at the Patio Restaurant on Rte. 173. Hospitality will be at 6 p.m., followed by dinner and a special program. Dr. Daniel LaVista, president of Lake County College, will speak to the Antioch Chamber and other Lake County Chambers invited, on how business can work with education on developing better economic growth.

North Chicago

The North Chicago City Council has received a request from the North Chicago Savings & Loan to pick up some of the costs of repairing a sewer line. The savings and loan stated in a letter to the council that the sewer line is in disrepair because of its age. North Chicago's city attorney has told aldermen there is no legal obligation to fix the sewer.

Long Grove

Joel Spatt, D.P.M., a podiatrist on staff at Highland Park Hospital, is opening offices at Grove Medical Center, Rte. 83 and Robert Parker Coffin Rd., in Long Grove. Specializing in ailments and disorders of the foot, Dr. Spatt's practice includes foot and ankle surgery, children's foot disorders and sports medicine. Dr. Spatt is an associate professor in the department of surgery at Chicago Medical School and a Diplomate of the American Board of Podiatric Surgery. For information, call (312) 634-8686.

Grayslake

Grayslake and Lake County residents may have noticed a bulldozer operator hard at work at Rte. 83 and Center St. The location is where the new Hardees restaurant will be built. Village officials expect the fast-food establishment to be ready sometime in November.

Gurnee

James Oberweis, a nationally recognized stock market analyst, will be the keynote speaker at a public seminar at 7 p.m. on Oct. 29 at the Gurnee Holiday Inn, Rte. 132. His topic will be, "Catching Winners Early." Oberweis is the host of a weekly program of the same name, which is broadcast nationally on cable TV.

Gurnee

Gurnee village board members are defending a sign at Spinney Run Corners despite an objection filed by a resident.

At a village board meeting, trustees said a message sign at the Rte. 21 shopping center matched the village's sign ordinances. Some trustees said they resented the "political implications" in Donna Sears' letter.

Michael Rosinsky of Salem, has completed a 2,700 hour apprenticeship career training program at the Acme Inst. of Technology, Hales Corners. Rosinsky, who is a product designer at Schluetter Co., Janesville, majored in training that included production, quality control, safety, cost estimating, processing methods and project engineering.

At 33, Anger Jr.
Oversees Intrupa

by KAREN WILTBERGER

At 33 years old, Hans Anger Jr. is taking over a large family-owned corporation that began after hours in the kitchen of his father's Chicago home.

With $25 million in annual sales, Intrupa Manufacturing Co., Inc. is the leader in its industry of forklift parts manufacturing and distribution.

It's been two years that the 27-year-old company has moved its headquarters to Grayslake. Seven years ago its machinery subsidiary relocated to Round Lake Beach. Other subsidiaries are located in Indiana and Toronto.

"Nobody pays much attention to forklift parts. It's an obscure type of field," said Anger Jr. But the company has developed into a top forklift parts company with a reputation for same day shipment service to companies primarily in the United States and Canada.

"It's a mature industry," said Anger Jr. about an industry that began in the 1920's. "That's a good term for an industry that's on its way out (because of automation)... but we'll always have enough of a demand to continue what we're doing."

Anger Jr. said he doubts automation will have a large impact on his business because such systems are expensive. The average company which uses five to 10 forklifts can not afford automation, he said.

Anger Jr. is overseeing the daily operations of the company built by his father, Hans Anger Sr. At age 61, Anger Sr. would rather stay in the background than to run the business or to retire, said Anger Jr.

Anger Sr. stepped into the industry in 1957 after he emigrated from Germany in pursuit of a better life. With three children and a wife, Anger Sr. arrived in New York and learned that his sponsor of a civil service job, a chief justice of the Supreme Court, had died and he was left jobless.

Anger Sr. came to Chicago because it was said to have a good job market. He arrived on a Sunday afternoon and (Continued on Page 18)

Soo Line closes on 2,000-mile route

Soo Line Corp. has completed the sale of its Lake States Division and turned over operations on nearly 2,000 miles of rail lines in four states to the newly formed Wisconsin Central, Ltd.

The sale occurred after eight months of negotiations and planning to identify a buyer for the lines, reach sale terms and close the complex transaction. Most of the lines included in the sale had been a part of the Soo since they were constructed in the 1800s.

The lines sold to Wisconsin Central are located in Wisconsin, upper Michigan, northern Illinois, and eastern Minnesota, including a major route connecting the Twin Cities with Chicago. Business handled on these lines generated more than 100,000 carloads of freight last year and brought in more than $80 million in revenues. Wisconsin Central's new workforce includes over 400 former employees of the Soo Line.

In addition to the sale of rail lines, the new railroad also purchased or leased 2,800 freight cars and 26 locomotives from the Soo.

"Customers, communities and states are all going to benefit from today's historic sale because it ensures a strong regional railroad will continue to provide a high level of service," Dennis M. Cavanaugh, chairman of CEO, said. "The major factors Soo considered in selecting a buyer were strong rail management experience and commitment to service. Wisconsin Central has these qualities and will be a strong competitive factor in its territory."

Proceeds received upon closing from the sale of lines, freight cars and locomotives totaled approximately $131 million and will be used primarily to reduce the corporation's long-term debt. The sale is expected to result in a before-tax book loss of from $14 to $27 million for the corporation.

The sale results in a slimmed down Soo Line Railroad with a 5,800 mile rail system operating in a dozen states from Canadian border connections through Chicago to Kansas City and Louisville. While Soo will no longer operate in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, its rail lines will cross Wisconsin from LaCrosse to Milwaukee and go on to Chicago, as well as serve the Superior and Madison areas.

Employees of Soo Line's Lakes State Division who chose not to go to work for Wisconsin Central are covered under terms of the collective bargaining agreement for their individual craft. The agreements provide the means for employees to fill job positions in other areas of the Soo Line.

The two railroads have established new connections now being used to interchange traffic at Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn.; Superior, Milwaukee, New Lisbon and Duplainville, Wis.; and Chicago.

Tri-State park in second phase

Phase one of the Grand Tri-State Business Park in Gurnee has been completed, according to Jim Swartchild, a principal of Frain Camins & Swartchild corporate real estate services.

The 270-acre real estate development, located directly across I-94 from Six Flags Great America, has already entered its second phase of construction since the land was purchased in June. All underground work is complete, with sewers, gutters and curbs in place. Asphalt has been laid over the entire road area, and landscaping such as regrading, seeding and sodding of the business park is underway.

Rather than clearing away land, the aesthetically desirable features of landscape are being utilized to beautify property.

NI-Gas meter readers put pencils back in pockets

One of Northern Illinois Gas (NI-Gas) company's latest technological applications can be seen in action. Meter readers no longer carry pencils and notebooks because they now take readings with electronic, hand-held computers.

NI-Gas' approximately 120 meter readers are keying readings directly into the new units, rather than recording them with paper and pencil—a technique hampered by harsh weather conditions.

The basic system was developed by ITRON in Spokane, Wash. Functions tailored to NI-Gas' specifications were designed into the system, based on input from the company's meter reading personnel.

One major revision was accommodation of same-day billing. "Many utilities will not bill customers until the route is complete," said Jim Stansbury, NI-Gas' general coordinator automated business systems. "It is NI-Gas' policy to bill whatever accounts are read each day. This enables our customers to receive their bills on a regular basis."

Each two-pound unit is the size of a walkie-talkie and is operated by a battery pack carried by the meter reader. The packs, recharged overnight, can function 12 to 14 hours. Information for up to 1,241 accounts, such as customers' name, address, meter number and location, is loaded nightly into each device via telecommunications process.

At each customer's residence, the meter reader records the reading through the customized keyboard of four rows, 16 characters each. The unit will audibly and visually alert NI-Gas employees to special instructions and conditions.

When finishing with a day's route, the meter reader returns to the office where each device is placed in a small microprocessing unit. From there, recorded data is transmitted through telephone lines to NI-Gas' main computer for billing. The process is repeated daily.

Although fully operational since April, the system has allowed NI-Gas to achieve increased customer and employee satisfaction.

Model homes open at Sparrow Ridge

Lexington Homes announced the opening of four model homes at its Sparrow Ridge community on Cuba and Rand Rds. in Lake Zurich. Sixty-five homes have already been sold during pre-sales in the four months prior to the models' opening.

Sparrow Ridge will feature 170 single-family Heritage Homes, one of Lexington's newest series of homes.

"It appears we have answered a tremendous need in the market with the new Heritage Series," says William Maybrook, executive vice president of sales and marketing at Lexington Homes.

"We have managed to offer affordably priced homes that feature many of the amenities that are commonly associated with the custom end of the home building market."

Lexington retained Sublette Design Group to create the interior atmosphere for the new models.

Early sales success at Sparrow Ridge had been based on home buyers purchasing from floor plans.

The Heritage Series models include The Washington, a 1,230-square-foot ranch style; The Adams, a 1,641-square-foot tri-level; The Jefferson, a 1,955 square foot mid-level; and The Madison, a 1,900-square-foot two-story.

Standard design features of the Heritage Series include large master bedroom suites and open space planning with cathedral ceilings. Homes include three or four bedrooms and up to two and a half baths. All models include a two-car garage, and an optional basement is available. Each home has three exterior options.

Sparrow Ridge, on 43 acres, will be a fully landscaped community based around curvilinear streets and cul-de-sacs. Additional property amenities include the community's close proximity to both recreational and service-related facilities. A 3.4-acre ball field and park, which will be maintained by the Lake Zurich Park Dist., exists within the community's boundaries. A day care center immediately borders the community.

Intrupa

Monday morning he began his position as export clerk.

After a few years he supplemented his income by making electrical contacts for forklifts in his kitchen. It wasn't long before his three sons were helping by his side at nights, weekends and during the summers.

Anger Sr. named the company by abbreviating Industrial Trucking Parts (Intrupa). He opened shop in an old shoe store and expanded several times in Chicago.

"My father built this business on old European work ethics—You work hard, you sacrifice and you succeed," said Anger Jr.

The expanding company moved to Grayslake and a larger space was difficult to find in Chicago. Anger Sr. was already living in Round Lake and Anger Jr. with his own family was looking for a different lifestyle. For a year after the company moved to Grayslake, it provided van service for its Chicago employees. As time went on, however, few employees moved north or wanted to commute.

Now most of the 200 employees are from the Lakeland area. With the exception of some management positions, the bulk of the working force is between the ages of 18 and 25.

"The salaries are competitive and the benefits are extraordinary," said Anger Jr. Besides insurance coverage, profit sharing and pension plans, Intrupa pays double time for vacations and provides hot lunches for $1. "No union could get you that," he said.

The only problem he sees as the company grows is that faces aren't as familiar. But the company tries to change that with monthly employee family outings, such as picnics, bowling and trips to Great America. "Even though we're larger, we try to operate like a family business," said Anger Jr.

Anger Sr. has two other sons who also are still much involved with the business. Peter is the manager of the computer department and Andy is the manager of the assembly department.

At 33 years old, Anger Jr. knows he is young for a man in his position. But, he said, "I've been working long enough to retire."

And after having a taste of executive vice president of a corporation, Anger Jr. said he doubts he can work for anybody else. "The beauty about being in my business is I'm my own boss and if I want to do something businesswise I don't have to go through a lot of red tape," he said.

Well, maybe there is one other thing he would consider—a wilderness guide for families.

"I like the wilderness. That's my biggest passion. And it's incongruent with being a businessman because you can't find time to enjoy it," he said.

Business breakfast will address literacy problem

Employers have a lot at stake when it comes to the literacy problem. Product quality and company productivity can be improved by encouraging employees to master basic reading and math skills.

To find out how, area business and labor leaders are invited to an executive breakfast on Wednesday, Oct. 21, from 7:30 to 9 a.m. at the Sheraton-Waukegan Inn, 200 N. Green Bay Rd.

The event, part of the national media campaign Project Literacy U.S. (PLUS), is sponsored by the College of Lake County's Volunteers in Tutoring Adult Learners (VITAL) and the Center for Economic Development; Libraries for Literacy; Private Industry Council; Literacy Volunteers of Lake County; and Lake County Area Planning Council for Adult Education.

Speakers will be Edward L. Morgan, Jr., assistant vice president of corporate relations for Allstate Insurance, who will address the corporate response to the literacy program; and Tom Drewes, president of Quality Books and a literacy tutor who serves on the Illinois Literacy Council.

Mary Charuhas, associate dean of adult continuing education at CLC, will outline the adult education services available to employers once they have assessed their company's needs.

During the PLUS breakfast, one of 200 taking place across the country the same morning, guests will see a preview of a new PBS documentary with revealing statistics on illiteracy in the U.S. workforce. The program, "A Job to be Done," is scheduled to air at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 21, on Channel 11.

Anyone with an interest in literacy issues is encouraged to attend the executive breakfast. Cost is $6 per person. For more information, call Barbara Hall at CLC, (312) 223-6601, ext. 327, or Carol Morris at the Waukegan Public Library, (312) 623-2041.

Help for deaf

The National Institute of Technology, West Des Moines, Iowa, is inaugurating a program to enable deaf and hearing-impaired students to pursue studies leading to associate degrees in electronics engineering technology. The 21-month curriculum of the National Education Center will begin in late October and be implemented by integrating the deaf and hearing-impaired with hearing students, providing interpreters and note-takers, and making maximum use of visual teaching aids.

Pre-winter battery check will improve performance

All too often, the engine battery, especially in winter, is named the culprit for sluggish starts or the reason for a car not starting at all.

It's true, of course, that when a battery is not fully charged, it will not crank the engine promptly. However, there are other components which might also be the source of the starting problem.

An undercharged or defective battery can be caused by a faulty alternator or voltage regulator, a worn or improperly tensioned drive belt, or loose or broken cables and cable connector erosion. Any of these can be the underlying reason for poor starts.

Poor maintenance is another factor. Often overlooked procedures include cleaning and tightening corroded terminals and connectors, checking for case damage caused by loose battery hold-downs, and periodic testing for the general condition of the battery.

Here's a checklist to ensure prompt starting all year long:

-Battery. Primarily, a battery's function is to crank the engine—start the car. Secondary functions are lighting and operating electrical accessories when the engine is not running. The battery should provide both good engine cranking capability and reserve power.

The power required to start an engine varies from car to car. It depends on the rpm demanded by the engine, the compression ratio, cylinder wear, temperature, weight of the oil, and the number and variety of accessories on the vehicle. Worn belts or loose fan belts can slip, causing a voltage shortage to the battery.

Actually, most battery failures are caused by problems in the other areas of the electrical system. But you should develop a habit of checking the battery as well as other components of the electrical system.

Whenever you raise the hood of the car, make a visual inspection for corroded terminal posts and connectors. Check for tightly sealed cable connectors, and look for worn or damaged cable insulation. And, make certain the battery is held tightly in its tray.

More thorough battery testing can be done quickly by a mechanic. A load test, for example, is the basic test of a battery's starting capacity.

If the testing determines that you need a replacement battery, install a unit with at least as much starting power as the original equipment battery. Refer to your car manual or the battery application data information available at your service station or auto parts store.

The heavy current drain imposed on a battery by cold weather starting cannot be delivered by a discharged or weak battery. The result is an immobilized vehicle.

-Drive belts. Since most engine power is transmitted by V-belts, a worn, defective or incorrectly tensioned belt results in a loss of power to drive the fan, water pump, alternator (or generator), power steering pump, air conditioning compressor and exhaust emission system air injection pump.

In fact, the lack of regular belt service is one of the top engine service problems contributing to loss of power.

The car's belts should regularly be inspected for signs of wear. Cracks on the underside of the belt enlarge as the belt flexes. A belt with cracks can break without warning.

Belts with oil and grease-softened under-core and slick sidewalls may slip the pulley. Such belts wear and break rapidly.

A glazed belt, with its slick, board-like sidewalls may slip and fail to grip the pulley properly. This can cause a discharged battery, engine overheating and premature belt failure.

Tom's Auto servicing the fast lane of auto parts

Whether you're looking for transmission from a 1957 Chevy or a door from a 1985 Porche, Tom's Auto can get you the part. Tom and Joe Seputis, co-owners of Tom's Auto, have made it a commitment over the past 15 years to try and find whatever piece of automotive equipment you might need.

Tom's Auto, located on about 14 acres of land in Hainesville, has one of the largest selections of automotive parts in Lake County. If they don't have the piece you're looking for, their computer, networked with more than 600 others across the country, can aid in the search.

Rather than stacking cars and parts, and leaving the search up to someone else, the automotive parts are racked in an orderly fashion.

"Some people are really amazed when they come here and see how we keep things in order," said Michelle Seputis, one of the family business employees.

"Some times people are looking for a 'clean' door, one without rust. We usually can check through the computer system and find one in Texas or Florida," she added.

Tom's Auto guarantees many of their parts for 30 and 90 days, which assures quality parts.

In addition to selling auto parts, Tom's Auto also does towing.

"There are a lot of times where we pick up a car or a part in Chicago and bring it to Milwaukee or Rockford," Michelle said. The company services most of the communities with that area, she added.

"We can get people just about anything they need for their car," she ended.

Women change outlook on automotive service

Professional women, busy mothers, working wives, even lady taxi and truck drivers—the streets are full of them, and their needs and attitudes are changing the automotive service industry.

It used to be a man's world, but the old-fashioned neighborhood garage, with its greasy bays and girly calendars, is fast becoming something of the past.

The growing number of women drivers is demanding more courteous service, cleaner facilities and, above all, auto technicians who can be trusted.

Today, convenient new types of automotive service are appearing, and women drivers like what they see. Typical of these services are the fast oil change or quick lube centers, which provide needed maintenance service quickly and without a wait.

"Women don't trust many auto mechanics," says Nadine Schultz, a young professional woman from Baltimore. "A quick lube center is different, however. You know that you've gotten what you paid for."

The largest of these convenience chains is Jiffy Lube, where a team of three technicians provides the driver with an oil change, a new oil filter, chassis lubrication and a check of all engine fluids.

In addition, one of the automotive technicians washes the windows, vacuums the interior, and checks windshield wipers and tire inflation. The complete service takes about 10 minutes, and requires no appointment.

The lube bays, where technicians work on the cars, are clean; in some locations, they are paved with designer tiles. And while the service proceeds, the customer waits in a spotless lounge where coffee is served.

One thing the chain's management insists upon is courtesy. This is a rare commodity in our hectic market place, but one that customers remember.

And because the service centers specialize in one type of service—lubrication and related maintenance—there is no big sell job.

New headlight helps cut wind resistance

Cars of tomorrow will be both more aerodynamically designed to cut down wind resistance and so increase energy savings. And thanks to a new kind of headlight a company is developing today, headlamps will be making a contribution to this efficiency.

These lamps are used in the replacement headlight system now available in a number of domestic and imported automobiles. The lamp allows for a sleeker, more aerodynamic headlight on such cars as the Audi Turbo 5000, Lincoln Mark VII, Mercedes Benz and Cadillac Seville. The highly efficient light was created by Osram, a Siemens USA company. It would seem to be lighting our way toward a more energy-efficient future.

Siemens is a family of high-technology companies, employing 24,000 people across the country to serve America's needs in telecommunications, medical systems, electronic components and power engineering.

Thermostat maintains engine's temperature

If your car has been slow to warm up during cold mornings, the engine may need a new thermostat. This is a temperature-activated valve that controls the flow of cool water from the radiator to the engine. Its main function is to hold the engine temperature within specified limits, not only for maximum efficiency but also for passenger comfort.

Replacing this part is a relatively minor expense that could pay for itself in short order, says Car Care Council. A thermostat that's stuck in the open position will allow the engine to run too cold, accelerating wear on critical parts. Cold operation can create condensation water in the crankcase, causing the oil to form a sludge, too.

Further, a cold engine may burn 10 to 20 percent more gas than it should. A thermostat that sticks in the closed position, on the other hand, will restrict coolant flow, causing overheating and possible damage to the engine.

Another valve in the cooling system is the radiator pressure cap. This keeps the cooling system under pressure, thereby increasing the boiling point of the coolant.

When the pressure cap fails the car may overheat and coolant will be lost to the overflow tank or, on cars without the tank, to the ground.

A visual check of the pressure cap may disclose a faulty gasket or a weak spring. The best way to check this cap is with a pressure tester, designed for this purpose.

Most service shops are equipped with a pressure tester that not only checks the condition of the cap but also the rest of the cooling system for leaks.

A pressure test before installing new anti-freeze could save trouble later.

For a primer on how the cooling system works and how to keep it working, send a self-addressed stamped envelope with 25 cents to Automotive Cooling System Institute, 222 Cedar Ln., Teaneck, N.J., 07666.

Additives help solve gas-related troubles

Within the past 12 to 18 months, a number of new car problems have been in the news. These problems have centered around the great strides forward in automobile technology and great strides backwards in gasoline technology.

First, increase in engine octane requirements have been occurring as auto manufacturers have been pressured to find new ways to further improve fuel economy.

Second, the combination of new fuel injector technology and lower fuel quality has caused many new engines to experience loss of performance due to injector clogging.

Finally, the removal of lead from gasoline is threatening autos designed to run on unleaded gasoline with catastrophic valve seat wear.

When these problems occur, the solution is often expensive. Premium gasoline is more premium than ever, with cost differentials between premium and regular gasoline pushing 30 cents or more per gallon in many cases.

Fuel injector clogging requires a visit to the dealer or repair shop for a costly injector cleaning service, or in some cases, injector replacement.

One company, Gold Eagle Co. of Chicago, has introduced a line of gasoline additives called the Quantum System, each designed to solve one of the problems mentioned above. This problem-solving approach is expected to be the new trend in gasoline additives, making them more than just a wish and a prayer. With products such as these, auto owners can find the product that solves their particular problem instead of buying a general purpose additive that may or may not help.

Wise operating practices make most of fuel dollars

Motorists who believe in getting the most for their money make sure they take good care of their cars. No one else will assume responsibility for the upkeep of your car's 15,000 parts!

Regular maintenance and wise operating practices, say experts, improve gas mileage and help prevent breakdowns and costly repair bills. The following tips may help make the most of your fuel dollars:

1. Prevention can be worth hundreds of dollars of cure. Various systems and parts should get routine attention according to manufacturer's recommendations. Lubricate chassis, transmission and rear axle, front wheel bearings and crankcase regularly.

Check the transmission and brake fluid levels and change when needed.

Other things to check out: radiator coolant and water levels, engine oil level, air filter or cleaner, fan belt, the battery's water level and tire pressure.

2. Buy gasoline of the recommended octane—no higher. Also read the owner's manual for advice on what types of fuel can be safely used. Some car manufacturers warn against using gasoline containing methanol.

3. Drive to conserve fuel and fuel dollars. Avoid stop-and-go driving whenever possible. Keep use of air conditioner to a minimum. Whenever waiting longer than a minute, turn off the engine—idling is hard on the engine and wastes gas. Buy radial tires if possible.

For worry-free driving, a tune-up is best bet

If this winter is similar to others, as many as 30 percent of America's motorists will have problems starting their cars, they'll blame the cold or a faulty car battery.

But the fact is, the majority of all winter car problems can be avoided through a simple winter tune-up.

Now is the time to winterize the car. To be sure you're ready for those sub-zero temperatures, the blowing snow and other wraths of winter, a pre-winter tune-up is vital to your car's winter efficiency.

In fact, a complete tune-up is more than twice as effective against winter starting difficulties as is battery service alone.

The importance of a thorough pre-winter tune-up doesn't just apply to snowy, cold and blowing areas of the country. It's just as important in warmer climates which generally experience wet, humid and damp conditions. Such weather also affects a car's starting abilities.

Before the season changes, be sure the service station gives your car a thorough check of all systems. The entire cooling system should also be checked. The serviceman should look for leaks, rusty coolant, and worn belts and hoses.

If the engine belts and hoses are more than four years old, have them replaced, regardless of visual conditions.

Fresh anti-freeze should be installed for maximum protection against the elements and a rust-clogged radiator. Have the oil and oil filter changed, if necessary.

A pre-winter check-up should include a battery service check. The voltage needed to start a car increases when the engine has broken or cracked ignition cables, worn spark plugs or plugs with wide gaps, a worn distributor cap or rotor, or a corroded distributor cap. Wet or cold weather compounds these battery problems.

Worn spark plugs will increase the electrical requirement; they may require up to twice as much electric energy as new plugs.

In addition to having an engine tune-up, be sure that your car is safe and ready for winter.

Have the service station check snow or radial tires, car brakes, lights and windshield wipers.

Gas shocks give better control

For a smoother ride, greater control and improved handling from the car, consider trying gas shocks. Gas shocks and struts have been used for years on many expensive European automobiles.

Today, nitrogen-charged gas shocks, struts and cartridges represent more than 40 percent of the replacement ride control units sold in the U.S. and are expected to account for 60 percent by 1990.

Exactly what does gas charging do that has made gas-charged shocks and struts so popular? For starters, one of the primary functions of a shock is to help keep the vehicle's wheels on the road more efficiently. Gas shocks do this much more effectively than conventional non-gas products.

According to experts at Maremont Corp., a major manufacturer of gas shocks and struts, the gas charge constantly exerts pressure on a shock's hydraulic fluid, helping it to react faster to bumps, dips and other changing road conditions.

Gas-charged shocks and struts also provide a booster, cushion effect that makes the car more resistant to bottoming out on severe bumps and jolts.

In addition, the conventional non-gas shocks, driving under severe road conditions can cause foaming in the hydraulic fluids, which causes fade. Gas shocks virtually eliminate fade and provide greater driving stability and control.

Finally, gas-charged shocks and struts operate more quietly than conventional non-gas units.

Body shop offers modern services

People don't have to travel far and wide to find a body shop which is capable of doing high quality work and painting. All they have to do is look in their own backyard to Lakeland Auto Body in Lake Villa.

"Sixteen years ago this hometown body shop was just a small four-stall garage and now we have expanded our building to over 3,200 square feet," said Jim Ratajczyk, president.

Not only has Lakeland's building expanded, but its number of new and returning customers has been topping past years' performances by leaps and bounds. When asked what to owe their great success to, Ratajczyk commented on the unique abilities of his technicians.

Unlike other auto shops, Lakeland carries a staff of technicians that not only have excellent hands-on experience, but also vigorous school training in their field.

Lakeland has not only expanded its building size and the knowledge of its technicians, but it now has more up-to-date and modernized equipment.

In the past few years, it installed additional equipment such as the frame machine, down draft spray booth, and the uni-body frame straightening system.

That's quite a cast bringing the old tried and true "Arsenic and Old Lace" to Chicago's Schubert Theater through Oct. 24. Jean Stapleton (Archie Bunker's wife) and Marion Ross ("Happy Days") play the two looney aunts with James McArthur as the harassed nephew, supported by Larry Storch and Johnathan Freid.

The '50's - 60's musical, "Beehive" is still alive and well at the Briar St. Theater.

And the two hottest long-running shows in town, "Pump Boys and Dinettes" and "Nunsense," at the Apollo and Forum theaters respectively, seem to be still packin' them in.

For Shakespeare lovers, having just opened in the Ruth Page Theater on Dearborn St., the Chicago Repertory Company's version of "Troilus and Cressida," is a fine taste of the bard.

As long as we're talkin' heavy theater, why not take in "The Beaux Stratagem," opening Friday at Waukegan's Bowen Park Theater in the Jack Benny Center.

Musical notes

On Saturday, Oct. 24, the Asbury Brass Quintet, five outstanding Northwestern graduates well known in chamber music circles, will be in concert at the CLC Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Sunday, will find the Choir of Lake County, directed by Allen Myren, and accompanied by Kathleen Cizewski, presenting a program of sacred and secular music, in the auditorium at 3:30 p.m.

Also on Sunday, Oct. 18, there will be a Bluegrass Band Showcase when the Crosstown Bluegrass Band will host bluegrass bands who will play from 4 to 8 p.m., at the Sundance Saloon on Rte. 176 in Mundelein.

Be there!

On Sunday, Oct. 18, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., there will be a gun collectors show at the Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake.

On Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21-24, Powers Advertising will hold a huge used car liquidation, from 10 a.m.-10 p.m. at the fairgrounds.

Everyone loves a good old fashioned hayride when the fall leaves start to fall. Patch 22 Ltd. on west Hwy. 22 and Half Day Rd., in Prairie View, offers individual one-hour hayrides or the whole shebang — party hayride plus party barn with square dancing afterwards. For information, call (312) 634-9633 or (312) 336-0670.

The Chicago Model and Hobby Show returns to the O'Hare Expo Center in Rosemont the weekend of Nov. 6-8. For information, call (312) 299-3131.

For the 12th consecutive year, "The World's Longest Halloween Party" will take place at the Holiday Inn-O'Hare Kennedy, Rosemont, on Oct. 30, 31 and Nov. 1. Sponsored by MENSA, it's called "HalloweeM."

WEEKEND INDEX*Bowen Park

St. Peter's Parish, Antioch, will present its annual extravaganza, that takes place in entertainment-filled rooms throughout the social center and school, on the weekends of Nov. 6-7 and Nov. 13-14. Besides the availability of food and drink in great abundance, and reams of local talent, professionals, Rapid Transit, Lloyd Pedersen and magician John Hopkins will be appearing in the 'Flamingo Dan Room.'

Flamingo Dan's to ignite 'Footlights'

St. Peter Church in Antioch has announced that this year's benefit "Footlights '87" will be held Nov. 6-7 and 13-14. This year's performance will bring back fond memories as St. Peter Church presents "Footlights '87: Remember When..."

There will be 10 rooms of great entertainment this year, each offering its own unique style of music, comedy, magic, entertainment, and refreshments to please everyone.

Appearing in "Flamingo Dan's" this year will be singer Lloyd Pedersen, an alumni of St. Peter's, Antioch High School and Northwestern University. He began his professional career as vocalist with Wayne King and his Orchestra, then sang with the Lamplighters Sextet at Arlington Park Towers (now Hilton). For many years he was on the road as leader of his own highly successful show group.

He has had a varied and successful theatre career on the west coast with lead performances in "Guys and Dolls," "How to Succeed in Business," and "Same Time Next Year" just to mention a few. He is best remembered in Antioch for his frequent winter holiday appearances at Avanti's Ristorante.

Also appearing with Pedersen is the ever-popular group, "Rapid Transit." They will not only accompany him in his performance, but will also entertain with their special style of music for everyone to dance to.

John Hopkins, the magician, will also appear in "Flamingo Dan's" to astound and amaze. This will be Hopkins' second appearance at "Footlights." Last year's attendees will remember him well for his astounding magic tricks and his uncanny sense of humor.

Advance admission tickets are now available at all local financial institutions, Realty World-Tiffany, and St. Peter school and rectory, at a $2 savings if purchased in advance of show nights. Friday night advance tickets are $5, and Saturday night advance tickets are $7. Tickets will be $2 higher if purchased at the door on show nights.

This year, St. Peter's is also offering a ticket good for all four nights, for $20. This is a substantial savings for parties who want to be there for all four nights of fun. Consider attending on Friday nights when it is less crowded.

All proceeds from "Footlights" will benefit St. Peter School. For further information, contact St. Peter's Rectory at (312) 395-0274.

Chain O' Lakes musicians are starting rehearsals

The Chain 'O Lakes Orchestra will begin rehearsals Saturday, Oct. 17, for its 1987-88 season under the direction of conductor David Crane. Crane received his bachelors degree in trumpet from the New England Conservatory; did a year of undergraduate work in trumpet and conducting at the Mozarteum in Salzburg, Austria; graduate studies at the University of Houston; and was awarded a masters degree in music in both conducting and performance from Northwestern University.

Crane, 31, lives on the north side of Chicago. His conducting credits go back as far as 1975. He currently conducts the Elmhurst Men's and Women's Choruses and the Austrian Mixed Chorus of Chicago.

He is also the piano accompanist for ballet and modern dance classes at the Gus Giordano Studio in Evanston.

Crane was the founder and music director of the National Inst. of Health Chamber Orchestra in Bethesda, Md. from 1982 to 1985.

This summer he began Northwestern (Continued on Page 8)

Waukegan Symphony Chorus begins its second decade

With the 1987-88 season, the Waukegan Symphony Chorus begins its second decade. Originating as a community chorus, it has maintained that status, giving non-professional singers the opportunity to perform choral masterworks.

Members of this chorus come from many communities within and beyond Lake County, volunteering their time and talent for the rehearsal and performance of the finest examples of classical and contemporary choral literature.

The chorus experienced tremendous musical and physical growth during its first 10 years, especially during the past several seasons under the baton of current director Don Horisberger.

The ensemble's numerous achievements in the choral art have been acknowledged by audiences and colleagues alike, prompting one reviewer to write, "You now have in Waukegan a major chorus, not just a good one, nor one capable of occasional bursts of greatness, but a major chorus."

Increasingly recognized for its musical and artistic ability, the chorus was selected to perform at the American Choral Directors Assn.'s Illinois State Convention last fall, and in April accepted a prestigious invitation to appear in New York City's Avery Fisher Hall at Lincoln Center in a concert featuring distinguished choruses from across the nation with the American Symphony Orchestra.

Of the Waukegan Symphony Chorus in that performance, conductor Peter Tiboris wrote, "The appearance of this chorus was important to the overall success of the program, and it performed at the highest possible artistic standard....in the world's most competitive musical environment."

The chorus rosters some 120 singers, and performs a cappella with chamber ensemble and with the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra. The Chamber Singers is a small vocal ensemble currently enjoying its third season of performances and is composed of chorus members selected by audition each spring.

In addition to its subscription series appearances, the chorus and Chamber Singers regularly perform for various groups and civic functions, including annual performances on the Waukegan Rotary Club's Community Christmas Concert and an appearance with the Lake Forest Symphony.

On Oct. 16, the chorus will present a student's concert celebrating the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution for the Genesee Theatre's Matinee Series, and in the spring, both ensembles will appear in a Chicago choral music festival.

Concert dates are Dec. 5, Feb. 20, May 7. Rehearsals are held Tuesdays, 7 to 10 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church, 122 N. Utica St., Waukegan (next to City Hall).

There are openings in all sections. Interested singers should call (312) 728-2176 for more information.

Caught in seduction

Caught in middle of seduction, Archer (Peter Pintozzi of Wauconda and Chicago), seems confused as to what next to do with Mrs. Sullen (Stephanie Tackett, Waukegan) in Bowen Park Theatre production of "The Beaux' Stratagem." Curtain rises at 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 16, 17, 23 and 24. For reservations and information, call (312) 244-1660.

Bowen Park raises curtain on 'Beaux Stratagem' debut

The curtain is going up on "The Beaux' Stratagem" at the Bowen Park Theatre located in Goodfellow Hall in the Jack Benny Center, 39 Jack Benny Dr., Waukegan, Oct. 16, 17, 23 and 24 at 8 p.m. and on Oct. 18 and 25 at 2 p.m.

This classic comedy is directed by Ken Smouse, director of the Bowen Park Theatre Company, and is an example of the type of plays that will be presented by the group....a very different genre than those done by other theatre companies in the area.

The very talented cast is very excited about "The Beaux' Stratagem" and is anxious to share their enthusiasm with area theatre patrons.

The cast is as follows; Peter Pintozzi from Chicago, Archer; Philip Jaeger from Zion, Aimwell; Lou Jones from Round Lake, Boniface; Ruth Suttie from Waukegan, Cherry; Stephanie Tackett from Waukegan, Mrs. Sullen; Catherine Guzolek from Chicago, Dorinda; Bob Andresen from Kenosha, Foigard; Ken Smouse from Antioch, Gibbet; Eileen Buchanan from Waukegan, Lady Bountiful; Ron Casey from Wildwood, Scrub; Alex Apostol from Antioch, Sullen; Sara Cameron-May from Libertyville, Gypsy; Fran Jansta from Racine, Sir Charles Freeman and Bagshot; and Cindy Sharp from Glencoe, Countrywoman.

For reservations or information, call (312) 244-1660.

Adler schedules Armstrongs

The multi-talented Armstrong Sisters, Becky and Jenny, will present a special children's concert at the David Adler Cultural Center on Saturday, Oct. 17 at 2 p.m.

Becky and Jenny have a wide repertoire of traditional and contemporary folk music, which they perform on guitar, banjo, fiddle, mountain dulcimer and Highland bagpipes. Folk lore, folk tales, and sing-alongs are also part of their program, designed for children of all ages.

This concert will conclude a month-long celebration of children's art at the cultural center, which has featured a traveling exhibit titled "Children's Art: The International Language."

The artwork comes from all over the world and depicts scenes that are exotic and familiar. The exhibit is free and open to the public Tuesdays through Saturdays from 1 to 4 p.m.

Concert admission is $3 for adults and $2 for children. The David Adler Cultural Center, 1700 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville, is a non-profit organization. For more information, call (312) 367-0707.

Rock Tracks

By Rob Ferrus

Tom Wait's new album Frank's Wild Years was released worldwide on August 15th and contains songs from the play of the same name, co-written by Wait and his wife, Kathleen Brennan. The play was performed by Chicago's Steppenwolf Theater Company to sold-out houses last summer.

Tom's North American tour began October 6th in Toronto and features songs from his last three albums: Swordfish From Bones, Rain Dogs and Frank's Wild Years. The show will present a garish buffet of waltzes, field hollers, jail poems and rhumbas, all lit and staged like a Filipino floor show.

The band members are: Greg Cohen on bass; Marc Ribot on guitar; Michael Blair on drums; Ralph Carney on horns and Willie Schwartz on accordion. Except for Schwartz, the other musicians all appeared on the Frank's Wild Years album and on the Rain Dogs album.

Along with long-time members David Gilmour, drummer Mick Mason and keyboardist Richard Wright, a ten-piece Floyd performed all of its new Columbia album, A Momentary Lapse of Reason, following a 17-minute rendition of "Echoes." The audience loved the new music, particularly "Sorrow," which featured a scorching Gilmour guitar solo.

The second set included such memories as "Welcome To The Machine," "Wish You Were Here," "Money," "Comfortably Numb," "On The Run," "Time," and "Another Brick In The Wall," as well as many other staple Floyd tunes. Original Pink Floyd fans, including myself, may disagree, but it's hard to find anything missing in this Water-less show.

Aided by a superior sound system, it is undeniably large scale rock showmanship at its best. Pink Floyd seems to be a reborn band with all the life and vitality which has been an earmark of past Floyd.

Song society glee club to appear

Normennenes Singing Society and the Waukegan Swedish Glee Club will appear together in concert at the Scandinavian Club, 2323 N. Wilke (Frontage) Rd., Arlington Heights, on Saturday, Oct. 31.

The combined experience of the two choruses represents a total of nearly 200 years of singing and presenting concerts of well-loved Scandinavian and other music. Lillian Schultheis directs the Normennenes Chorus and Carl Johansen directs the Waukegan group.

A social hour in the newly-redecorated rooms of the Scandinavian Club will commence at 6 p.m. Following the concert, which begins at 7 p.m., a dinner will be served. Dancing to the music of "The Three of Us" will follow the meal.

Reservations can be made by calling the Scandinavian Club at (312) 870-1710. Price for the evening's entertainment and meal is $15 per person.

Disaster training program

The American Red Cross will conduct a volunteer disaster training program at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 29, at 535 N. Lake St., Mundelein. The program will help prepare prospective volunteers to aid with disasters such as flood and fire. For further information, contact Charles Fitzgerald at (312) 949-1000.

Set 'Galena Rose' for Opera House

"Galena Rose," the highly acclaimed musical play written by and starring singer-songwriter Jim Post, will debut at the Woodstock Opera House on Saturday, Nov. 28. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

"Galena Rose" (How Whiskey Won the West)

is a musical docu-drama of the western states of the union around the time of the Louisiana Purchase. (When the west was considered just east of the Mississippi River).

The story focuses on life in the Fever River Mining Dist. of the Galena Territory in Northwest Illinois in the early 1800's.

The Chicago Tribune says that "Galena Rose" is one of the 10 best events to see in the midwest this year.

Post, who will also be appearing nationally in Wendy's Hamburger television commercials in November, is no stranger to the Woodstock area.

Post has performed many times in concert at the Opera House to rave critical review and delighted sold out audiences.

Tickets for Jim Post in "Galena Rose" are priced at $9 and are available at the Woodstock Opera House box office or any Ticketron outlet. For tickets or more information, call (815) 338-5300.

Waukegan Chorus to salute 'Liberty'

The Waukegan Symphony Chorus will present the first program of the 1987-88 Genesee Theatre's Matinee Series on Friday, Oct. 16, at 10 a.m. in the Genesee Theatre.

"Liberty," a patriotic salute in word and song, will be presented in celebration on the 200th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution.

Throughout the production, actor Michael Hughes will narrate a brief history of America.

Chorus soloists Judy Heldberg, Jim Stiles and Madison Bolt complete the cast for the stirring, colorful performance. For tickets and more information, call the Theatre at (312) 336-0494.

Hemingway's Oak Park to be brought to life

"Hemingway's Oak Park" will be brought to life on a walking tour in the author's native village on Sunday, Oct.

25, with guided tours sponsored by the Ernest Hemingway Foundation of Oak Park.

The public is invited to participate in visiting scenes of Hemingway's youth, beginning at 2 p.m. There will be a $3 fee.

Tour groups will leave from the front steps of the Oak Park Public Library, Lake and Grove Sts., an institution which played a major role in developing the writer's literary interests.

The tours, conducted by foundation members, will view (exteriors only) the Hall House, home of maternal grandparents, where Hemingway was born in 1899 and lived until he was five; the "interim" house which housed the family while the home of Dr. Clarence Hemingway was under construction; and the boyhood home at 600 N. Kenilworth, where he grew up in the pre-World War I years.

Other stops include the war memorial which bears the author's name, his grammar school and the First United Church, the family place of worship where there will be a special display, including paintings by his mother, Grace.

The tour will conclude at the church where former friends and scholars of Hemingway's will share recollections. For further information, call (312) 848-1175.

Octet will perform Nov. 1

St. Joseph's Parish in Round Lake will present the New Tradition Octet at 7 p.m. on Nov. 11 at the church, as the third of its Artist & Audience performance.

New Tradition Octet is from the Northbrook chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America (SPEBQSA). Octet members are tenors Paul Tobin of Round Lake and Nick Caccamo of Northbrook; leads Russ Hook of Bridgeview and Nick Noller of Libertyville; baritones Jim McCormick, Hoffman Estates and Pete Harrison, LaGrange Park; and basses Bob Hagg, Park Ridge, and Paul Gulder, Des Plaines.

The show will include favorites such as "Melancholy Baby," "I Love You Truly," and "Lida Rose." As trained artists of barbershop singing, the octet belongs to the New Tradition Chorus, led by Jay Giallombardo, in which each member receives extensive training in vocal production, interpretation and stage presence.

Artist & Audience provides an informal setting with a personal presentation of the artists' work and the opportunity for the audience to meet and interview the artists. St.

Joseph parish's new Arts Resources and Development Fund is used to cover the cost of the cultural programs supporting local artists. A free will offering is taken after each performance.

For more information, call Artist & Audience Coordinator Kathleen Cizewski, (312) 356-1967, or Pastor Raymond Skriba, (312) 546-3610.

Chain O'Lakes

University's first summer chamber orchestra and he is looking forward to building the Chain 'O Lakes Orchestra into a showcase of talent from the McHenry-western Lake County area.

The Chain 'O Lakes Orchestra, presently in its seventh season, will rehearse each Saturday morning from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., beginning Oct. 17, in the band room of Shady Lane School, Hawthorn Ln., in Fox Lake.

All interested musicians are encouraged to join, and string players are especially needed. There is no fee charged to belong to this community orchestra, which has grown to some 40 members ranging in age from eight to 80.

Anyone interested in joining should phone either Sue Kozlowski, (312) 587-2742, or Karen Schaudt, (312) 587-6646, and give their name, age, instrument and playing experience.

The Chain 'O Lakes Orchestra is sponsored by the Chain 'O Lakes Cultural Arts Assn. and is supported by contributing members, local businesses and communities, and grants from the Lake County Arts Council (formerly known as the Waukegan-Area Arts Council).

'Red Noses' is an unlikely comedy

by TOM WITOM

Fourteenth Century France, beset by a killer plague, seems an unlikely setting for a comedy. But it fits perfectly for the American premiere of Peter Barnes' "Red Noses" now at Chicago's Goodman Theatre through Oct. 31.

"The Black Death" is everywhere, and Pope Clement VI (Lawrence McCauley), hiding in a protective glass booth, sums up the mood by saying he's giving up hope for Lent.

A group of Flagellants go about seeking recruits in hopes that personal suffering would bring an end to the scourge, which they see as a sign of God's wrath, while another group, the Black Ravens, prey upon the stricken, looting corpses.

Things look bleak until a humble friar, Father Flote (Ivar Brogger), acting on a vision, assembles a motley crew of performers—a blind juggler, stuttering standup comic, a pair of lame dancers, a mute jester and a lusty nun—to battle the plague and comfort the afflicted with laughter. As a new religious order, the Red Noses of Auxerre, each wears the symbol of a clown.

The little troupe grows and lifts spirits as it tours the country. In its presentation of "Everyman," the players confront "Death" face to face ("I thought you'd be skinnier," they joke). A touching moment occurs when Father Flote breaks down a barrier to dance with a leper.

Another delightful scene shows the intrepid Red Noses floundering in the night on their mission from God. The stage is completely darkened except for the little lanterns carried by each troupe member, but there's no mistaking who's who because of their distinctive mannerisms.

The 27-member cast mixes puns, slapstick and a mishmash of tomfoolery to prove the merits of laughter as a fine restorative. At three hours, the presentation tends to be overly long; inevitably some of the humor falls flat.

In the second half, when the plague has subsided, church authorities decree a return to normalcy and discipline. The Red Noses, once a useful lubricant, suddenly find themselves grit in the wheel...their purpose served, they must be eliminated.

"Red Noses," however, leaves the audience with a lingering sense of satisfaction for having shared the laughter of compassion and joy.

Vrdolyak to keynote program

Edward Vrdolyak will speak on "The Interaction of Business and Political Communities" on Oct. 20 at the Lake Forest Graduate School of Management, as part of the Alumni Continuing Education Series. The program begins at 6 p.m. with light refreshments, and is open to the public. Cost is $6 per person or $10 per couple. Reservations are necessary, and can be made by calling Faith Hasler at the school, (312) 234-5005.

There are 'Red Noses' at Goodman

The cast of Peter Barnes' "Red Noses" builds to big finish in their first public performance at Goodman Theater, Chicago, through Oct. 31. Show deals with the 'Black Plague' in 14th century France and a monk who gathers entertainers to combat plague blues and cheer-up victims.

Sophia Chamber Orchestra opens new concert series

The Sophia Chamber Orchestra will inaugurate the 1987-88 series of the Lake County Community Concert Assn. at 8 p.m. on Oct. 24 in Waukegan West High School auditorium.

Admission to the concert is by membership subscription only. A limited number of memberships will be available at the first concert, however.

Membership entitles a subscriber to attend six concerts for $25 ($10 for students through high school age). Further information may be obtained by calling (312) 623-3178 or (312) 244-7465.

Established in 1962, the Sophia Chamber Orchestra consists of 15 string players and features soloist Mincho Minchev who plays a Stradivarius violin built in 1776.

The orchestra's excellence has been recognized by coveted prizes from music festivals in Europe. Its repertoire ranges from Baroque classics to contemporary music. Conductor Emil Tabakov has been termed one of the most talented Eastern European musicians of his generation.

Solo violinist Mincho Minchev astonishes and charms audiences with his precise technique and soulful interpretations of brilliant violin music.

He made his recital debut in his Bulgarian hometown at age nine, and has won international competitions in London, Geneva, and Moscow, and performs as a guest soloist with many major orchestras.

Milwaukee's Mitchell Airport: Is it for your next trip?

by JIM WARNKEN
President, North Star Travel

Your flight is to leave at 9 a.m. from O'Hare Airport. It is now 6 a.m.—plenty of time. You're cruising along at 65 mph on I-94 and suddenly the traffic comes to a dead stop. Just the usual two mile backup at the Deerfield toll booths. A little close-on time now, but still no real problem. At the entrance to the O'Hare parking lot, there's a mile back-up of cars waiting for the privilege of paying $9 a day to park.

Once inside the lot, another 20 minutes is spent trying to find a space. After that, it's a good 20 to 30 minutes to get to the gate from the parking lot. By that time, the plane is halfway to New York.

Could all this have been avoided? In most cases, yes. Not only that, but depending on destination, some money may have been saved on the ticket, too.

Next time you fly, ask the travel agent about leaving from General Mitchell Airport in Milwaukee. While it is a few miles further than O'Hare, it usually takes less time to get there, traffic being the factor. You still take I-94, but going north instead of south. There is an exit on I-94 that leads directly into Mitchell Airport's parking structure. Parking, by the way, is only $2 a day at Mitchell Airport. The farthest gate is less than seven minutes from the parking garage. It's taken me longer than that to get from the ticket counter at O'Hare to Gate One.

Anyone who hasn't driven up to Mitchell Airport in a while should take a drive up there. The terminal is brand new, with all the little shops found at O'Hare. While I wouldn't make a special trip just for dinner, there is a fine variety of restaurants offered.

Now for the real reason for going to the airport: Can we get there from here? That is, are there flights to my destination? Most likely the answer is yes. Mitchell Airport is served by 13 airlines which in turn offer nonstop or direct service to about 65 U.S. cities.

OK, so now I know I can probably get a flight to Grandma's, but will I have to pay an arm and a leg for it? Surprise! If Grandma has retired to Tampa or Orlando, money will be saved by flying out of Mitchell Airport. However, if she decided to move to Phoenix for her sinuses, it will cost a little more.

For vacation travelers, Thomson Vacations offers flights from Mitchell Airport to most of its vacation destinations, as does a lesser known but still respected tour operator known as Funway Funjet. In fact, Funjet offers non-stop service to Las Vegas from Milwaukee.

So the next time you need to fly, consider the alternative to traffic delays, parking problems, and ramp construction. Try Milwaukee's Mitchell Airport.

ASK TONI

Where did Dan Aykroyd break into TV comedy?

By Toni Reinhold

Where did Dan Aykroyd get his start? When and where was he born? - J.L., Yakima, Wash.

Dan Aykroyd

Aykroyd, who starred in the recent big-screen spoof of "Dragnet," was born on July 1, 1952, in Ottawa, Ontario, Canada. An alumnus of Chicago's Second City comedy troupe, he first made his mark on TV audiences on NBC's "Saturday Night Live," in which he starred from 1975 to 1979. Aykroyd was a featured member of the show's "Not Ready for Prime Time Players," along with his frequent partner, the late John Belushi. He also wrote many of the late-night show's skits.

I've heard that Spuds MacKenzie fell off a surfboard while filming a commercial and drowned. Is this true? - N.B., Hampton, Va.

No, this sounds like a rumor started by some rival party animal. Spuds, an American bull terrier, is still the original party animal and a TV commercial star. He's as busy as ever, as are his co-stars, the Spudettes.

What was the name of the Chinese butler on the old show "Bachelor Father"? Who played him? - S.W., Barbourville, W.Va.

Houseboy Peter Tong was portrayed by Sammee Tong.

What old movie involved a dog that was killed, then came back to life as a man to find its killer? - T.S., Goldsboro, N.C.

You're thinking of "You Never Can Tell" (1951), which starred Dick Powell, Peggy Dow, Joyce Holden and Charles Drake. Powell played the dog's human reincarnation, and Holden played his sidekick, formerly a horse.

Who was the first master of ceremonies on "The Original Amateur Hour"? I've always thought the first MC was Ted Knight, but someone told me that there was another host before him. - M.T., Odessa, Texas

"The Original Amateur Hour" first aired on the DuMont network in 1948, with Ted Mack acting as the MC and Dennis James as the announcer. Before being brought to TV the show aired on radio, where it was emceed by Major Bowes, its founder and original host.

HBO's '1st & Ten' series has an irresistible charm

By Frank Lovece

One advantage of made-for-cable series is that, unlike their broadcast network counterparts, they're filmed a handful of episodes at a time - which means less ratings considerations, less weekly deadlines and less pressure to please the largest possible audience. Of course, this doesn't mean that every cable series is golden. But it does mean that they can dare to be different.

Delta Burke

The risks and rewards of being different are apparent in "1st & Ten: Going for Broke," the fourth cycle of HBO's football drama series. The series has an irresistible charm, like a pug-nosed dog that is too cute and ugly to dislike. This week's episode airs Sunday, Oct. 18 and Wednesday, Oct. 21. What's best about "1st & Ten" is its soap-opera story line. A newly promoted general manager is faced with business-vs.-friendship decisions; the front-office is plagued by infighting and deception; an aging star feels comeback desperation; and money-and-sex temptations are dangled in front of kids who have become famous too quickly.

What's worst, on the other hand, is the dialogue, which is either stiffly written or just delivered that way, unintentionally, by performers chosen more for their size and looks than for their acting capabilities. Some of them (such as Seattle Seahawk rookie Brian Bosworth) bring genuine gridiron experience to the screen, and their blustery background shows. Even the normally loose and believable O.J. Simpson struggles with his lines. Ironically, though, former Oakland Raiders lineman John Matuszak, playing an over-the-hill star, turns in the most realistic and touching performance of all.

Except for Delta Burke, that is. The "Designing Women" co-star continues here as team owner Diane Barrow, the role that introduced her to TV audiences. Viewers who know her only as a sassy Southerner will be pleasantly surprised to see her playing an astute (if naive) executive.

Since it aims at simulating real life, there's lots of cheesecake and beefcake on "1st & Ten." But let's face it, football stars can be extremely sexist creatures. It's a point in the series' favor that such dark sides aren't glossed over.

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Trust your instincts.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) People will appreciate the phone calls you make today. If you've been working hard on something, make sure you see it to the finish. Enjoy your social life.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Keep a close eye on your budget. New faces could bring you trouble now, so hold your ground and don't make any drastic changes. Give friends a call.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) If things seem a little hairy now, be sure to take them in your stride. Make plans to see those friends you miss; they can clear up your confusion now.

Cancer (June 21-Jul. 20) Why not surprise someone you care about with a small gift? If there are people around you who aren't happy, spread a little warm sunshine their way.

Leo (Jul. 21-Aug. 22) People different from yourself can give you the advice you seek. Be persistent in your romantic affairs. A positive outlook can bring you great rewards.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your mate will be much happier after you implement your new ideas. If you work together, you can plan a successful future. Expansion is easy now.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Soak up all the information you can from knowledgeable people. Make sure you handle your private and public affairs with the utmost proficiency.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Find yourself a new outlet for relieving stress; this will help you solve any tricky problems you may encounter. Rely heavily on your sense of humor.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Stay far away from any business deals showing the slightest sign of risk. Don't let any partners sway you away from your opinions. Be happy.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Agreements with clever associates can be reached now. Don't get involved in arguments. If things pile up, handle the important tasks.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) If you've made a promise which someone is depending on, make sure you hold up your end of the bargain. Be sensible when out and about socializing.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Take some time to yourself to get back into top physical shape. Don't be discouraged if your wishes aren't coming true yet. Your time is coming soon.

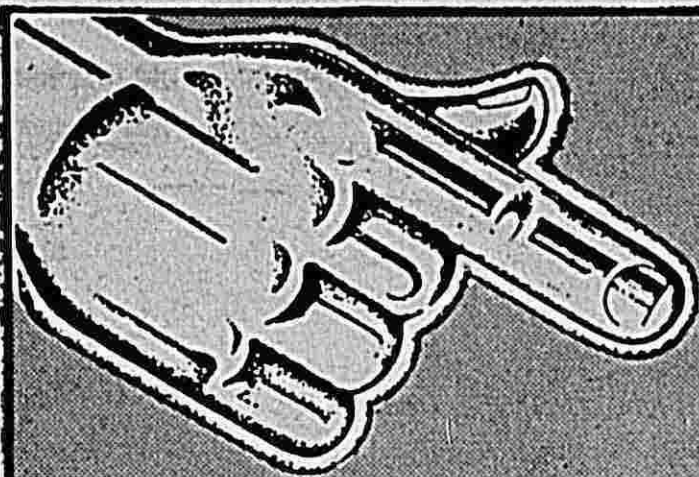

If you were born this week, you are an intense Libra with, among other things, a strong work ethic. This should reap you many rewards throughout your chosen career, for people can truly see your diligence and proficiency. What many admire about you is your "upfrontness." You have a redeeming quality in your honesty, for people freely take you into their confidence. Yours should be a life of pleasant surprises along the way.

PD to Issue Permits

The Lake County Forest Preserve District designated Saturday, October 17, as the first day to issue picnic permits in the forest preserves.

Permit permits for 1988 will be available beginning at 8 a.m. that day at Forest Preserve Headquarters, 2000 N. Milwaukee Ave., in Deerfield.

Forest Preserve District President Donald J. Long noted that this is the third year the district has issued permits in October. "This year of year has been received by the public, due to the better weather conditions and all colors," he said.

Looking for teeth in law

Sometimes we feel like the law needs a new upper plate when it comes to dealing with drugs.

For instance, Illinois has a new law on drug abuse (HB 1925) which permits public housing authorities to refuse to renew the lease of persons convicted of drug offenses while living in the public housing projects. We'd call that putting some teeth into the law.

Another new law is pretty toothless.

Children deserve support

For the sixth time in five years voters of Wauconda Unit School Dist. 118 will be asked to approve an increase in the school tax rate. The last five times, they have said no.

Voters in Wauconda can argue about the quality of education their children receive, but there can be no argument at the board of education and administration are spendthrifts. For four years, Wauconda has had the lowest school tax rate in Lake County (to compare a unit district with dual districts, one must add elementary and high school rates together.)

Even if the proposed 47 cent increase

That's HB 35 (No Drugs) establishing May 15 as the annual "Just Say No" day in Illinois schools to discourage drug and alcohol abuse. We wonder what our local schools will be doing next May 15? Wearing badges or holding pep assemblies to shout "Just Say No" cheers?

It'll take more than a special day to clean drugs out of the schools. Where's the teeth?

passes, Wauconda will remain among the lower third of school districts in the county (at least as far as taxation).

We do not understand how Wauconda voters can reasonably expect to maintain quality while continuing to provide the least amount of local support in the county to its schools.

The school board has been responsible in its duty to guard the taxpayers' money. It has given Wauconda citizens a break on their tax bills for many years.

We believe it is time for Wauconda residents to give their children a break. Vote yes to the referendum to support Wauconda schools.

Against another Con-Con

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce is making a strong case against holding another state Constitutional Convention. A referendum will appear on the ballot in November, 1988, asking whether another Con-Con should be called to revise the 1970 Illinois Constitution. A referendum is required every 20 years to decide if a convention is needed for making changes in the present constitution.

We are in whole-hearted agreement that a constitutional convention is not necessary. Con-Con '70, the first held in more than half a century, served well. It's working well. There is no need to go back to the drawing board" to produce a document for guiding Illinois government at all levels.

These reasons have been cited for opposing the calling of a convention:

The 1970 Constitution has served the state well with its specific safeguards for both corporate and individual taxpayers. By providing a stable tax climate, it has proven to be a solid economic growth document. A new convention could completely eliminate the tax limitations, resulting in a higher business tax burden. The 1970 constitution specifically requires that income tax rates be non-graduated and that the corporate-to-personal tax rate cannot exceed an eight-to-five ratio.

—Many anti-business and single-issue groups support broadening the use of the initiative process. This would allow them to bypass the normal legislative process and take an emotional and complex issue directly to the voters. In states like California, voters often have bypassed the Legislature and voted for amendments out of fear or anger.

—A constitution should not only provide the framework for efficient government, but also have the flexibility to respond to future problems. A clear indication of how effectively a constitution is responding to the needs of society is the number of changes made since its adoption. There have been many proposed amendments to the constitution introduced in the General Assembly since 1970, but only nine have been placed on the ballot. Of those nine amendments, only four have been approved by the voters. Additionally, the courts have made few changes in the 1970 constitution, which would indicate a general satisfaction with the manner in which the current constitution is functioning.

Without a doubt, the coming months will bring cries by special interests and pressure groups for overhauling the constitution. We hope these pleas fall on the deaf ears of the voters. The Con-Con referendum should be voted down.

Letters To The Editor

Shabby journalism

Editor:

I am writing to oppose your Just Politics column of Sept. 25 in which the late Glenn E. Miller, former Lake County Board Chairman and County Board member for over a decade, was mentioned in a most negative manner. Glenn was and still is known throughout Lake County for his straightforwardness, his caring and his leadership role on the County Board for many years. His record does not need defending!

The mention of this great man in such a negative manner was just plain shabby journalism; is there not enough to write about among the living? Shame on you for this distasteful column on the 10th of September. Lakeland Press is above this type of journalism. You owe his family and many friends an apology.

Venita L. McConnel
Wauconda

Editor's Note: McConnel was campaign manager for Mr. Miller and a long-time political confidant.

Jobs in jeopardy

Editor:

Last year we wrote regarding the extension of Bill HR-3465 (the extension of the Manufacturing Clause of the U.S. Copyright Act).

We wish to express our thanks once again to you and those of your readers who took the time to write to their Congress and Senate representatives requesting they support Bill HR-3465. However, not enough support was generated and the Manufacturing Clause was allowed to expire last year.

After the Manufacturing Clause was allowed to expire, imports began to hit every part of the printing industry. Books, newspapers, magazines, commercial printing and packaging material have started to move out of the country.

Every day, jobs in every trade are in jeopardy, more and more imports arrive from all parts of the world. Japan, Brazil, Korea, Singapore and Taiwan (just to name a few), import items from cars, radios, televisions, washers, clothing and the list goes on. Imports flood out markets and jeopardize American jobs.

Viewpoint

Planned roads now only make-believe

by BILL SCHROEDER

A major highway construction program designed to serve the south central and mid-county sectors of Lake County has been mothballed for all practical purposes.

When originally announced to the public more than 30 years ago, the project involved four laning Rte. 120 westward around the Grayslake and Round Lake areas to connect with the extension of Rte. 12 southward from the Wisconsin stateline. Integral to the plan was the extension northward through Long Grove of a superhighway Rte. 53 at a connection point south of the Grayslake-Round Lake area.

The purpose of the ambitious program was to link the Waukegan-North Chicago area with northwest Cook County and points west, mainly the development of Rte. 12 as a superhighway connecting with Wisconsin's relocation of Rte. 12 east of Lake Geneva. Business leaders and politicians envisioned the grandiose transportation plan as spawning the "City of the Future" in central Lake County. Heartland came out of this thinking.

What happened was bits and pieces. Rte. 53 in Cook County became a reality, but environmentalists in the Long Grove area killed the Lake County portion. Rte. 120 was upgraded to four lanes that end abruptly in Wildwood. Illinois never was able to keep its end of the bargain connecting with Wisconsin's limited access Rte. 12.

When asked for a status report, Lake County Highway Supt. Martin Buehler noted that state highway engineers are not pursuing studies or right-of-way acquisition. Even if new life could be breathed into the project and a green light flashed today, Buehler said it would take six years for required environmental studies and the funding apparatus to be put into place to launch construction.

The clincher was Buehler's observation that "the corridor is not being protected," which is engineering lingo meaning that people are building houses on the ground where the Rte. 120-Rte. 53 roadways were to have been built.

ELUSIVE—You have to wonder how serious Duane V. Barcena of Mundelein is about being elected a trustee of the College of Lake County. Barcena has been making some noise in the courts about the eligibility of his competition, but he doesn't even have a telephone listing. If he can get himself known, Barcena hopes to unseat either of two incumbents in the Nov. 3 school elections, Millicent Berliant of Highland Park or Nancy Block of Prairie View.

NEW LOOK—Pierce Regnier has set upon adding a new dimension to the Last Chance Saloon, the colorful western bar in Grayslake. Regnier, a minority stockholder, will be stressing food service and the western museum theme. Party and buffet facilities are being offered in an expansion program. The spot still is owned by Dan Kane.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—For a guy who only thinks he has a green thumb, pop sure gets his kicks out of thumbing through seed catalogs and planting brochures. Right now he's got his eye on a "limited opportunity to be one of the first American gardeners to grow and enjoy the world's largest strawberries." That's what the flyer says! How can I resist? I can't. I'm already signed up, ready to start the 1988 gardening season. And I haven't even raked leaves yet.

Depke to stir up a storm in county board race

HE HASN'T FORMALLY announced, but expect Bob Depke to run for County Board in Dist. 5. Depke narrowly lost to Carol Calabrese in 1985. Calabrese ran with Mike Graham.

This battle will be particularly interesting as Depke is considered a regular Republican. So are incumbents Andrea Moore, vice-chairman of the board, and Jim Dolan. Both are from Libertyville. Depke is from Warren Twp. and is township supervisor.

Already, rumors abound that Dolan and Moore are cozying up to their old opponent, Mike Graham. Dolan said that he and Graham are talking about issues with each other but he is not going to hold his breath waiting for an endorsement.

Depke is a powerhouse and with all four Dist. 5 members from Libertyville, he has to be counted as a favorite. So who is on the bubble, Moore or Dolan? It is interesting that Graham may be the fellow who decides which will survive and which will take an unwelcome retirement. Politics does make for strange bedfellows.

MANY COMMITTEEMEN IN Dist. 4 are not happy with Lake County Republican Chairman Bob Neal. Neal sent out petitions on behalf of all Lake County Republican officeholders up for reelection and asked committeemen to have them finished by Oct. 30.

Included were petitions for incumbents Fred Popp (R-Lake Villa) and Jim Fields (R-Antioch). No mention was made of challengers Suzy Schmidt of Lake Villa and Larry Leafblad of Grayslake.

Of course, Schmidt and Leafblad have plenty of people, including committeemen, who will pass their petitions. But somebody asked them if they would drop out of the race since it seemed obvious they will not receive the Republican Central Committee's endorsement.

There is a lot of self-delusion going on here. Neal, who is a fine fellow and a dedicated Republican, gets a little crazy about calling the shots before primaries. The Republican endorsement hasn't meant beans in a primary for several years.

Before a party can start making pre-primary endorsements and making them something more than a point of dispute, it must be united and strong. The committeemen must be brought into the process. Right now, these endorsements have been cause for hard feelings. They create suspicion between competing wings of the party.

When Richard Daley died, the Democratic Party's pre-primary endorsements became a source of amusement. They also helped divide the party.

Simple rule of politics: don't fight no battles you can't win. So what's so wrong with letting Republican voters choose their candidates at the primary? They will anyway and if history is any guide, the Republican Party will have egg on its face again for having denied endorsement to so many who will win. And the divisions will remain in the party a while longer.

THE PROPOSAL FOR a county executive was a hot topic of conversation at the Republican Federation's Silver Anniversary Salute at the Sheraton-Waukegan last week.

Bob Depke of Warren Twp. may be a candidate for that office, too, if the proposal passes. If Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) and Jim Dolan (R-Libertyville) get nowhere in their efforts to woo Mike Graham (R-Libertyville) to the cause of their reelection, who knows, they may support the proposal and Depke as the Republican candidate. If he runs for executive, he can't run for county board.

Of course, the executive referendum and the primary election will be held at the same time, so that is an unlikely, if not impossible scenario.

Bruce Hansen (R-Lake Zurich) made the interesting point that, if an executive is chosen, what need is there

At Issue: Park City recall election

Controversy over the performance of Park City's Mayor Virginia Kennedy has led to a referendum on creating a recall election in Park City. Voters will choose whether to create recall legislation at the election Nov. 3. Betty Humphrey, a sitting alderman, is in favor of such an ordinance. Rob Allen, who was an alderman for six years, opposes it.

PRO:

Betty Humphrey

The Illinois Constitution provides for the removal from office of those officials who illegally use the powers of their office. However, it does not deal with the issues of mismanagement or incompetence.

Recall is a device that the voters may use to protect their city from the long-reaching impact of incompetent, irresponsible or non-responsive representation. Today's lost opportunities to bring in new business, guide and shape the growth of the city, and obtain new sources of revenue can be devastating tomorrow.

During my tenure as an elected official, I have witnessed the negative effect on the city's growth, revenue and reputation when certain elected officials failed to do the job they were elected to do. Perhaps if there had been a recall ordinance in place then, these officials would have taken their jobs and their responsibility to their constituents more seriously.

Recall is a means by which the voters have the right to stop mismanagement and incompetence at any elected office. It provides a watchful eye on elected officials who may forget rules of conduct and answerability.

CON:

Robert Allen

Recall circumvents established electoral processes. Current election laws guarantee orderly elections where issues are put before the voters.

Recall ordinances disenfranchise voters. When a majority of voters elects a candidate they have indicated their choice. A recalled official's office is filled by appointment, not by the voters. It may even be left vacant.

Recall makes elected officials susceptible to small special interest groups. Typically it takes only a small number of voters' names on a petition (35 percent in Park City's ordinance) to get an official's name on a recall ballot. Officials are much less likely to take firm stands on tough issues if they are vulnerable annually to fighting to retain their offices. And remember, in a recall election you never have two candidates putting issues before the public; you have a small group challenging the decisions of a person elected by the majority.

Finally, we will always have some officials that don't live up to our expectations. That's why we have laws, terms of office and elections where people like you and I can take stands on the important issues. We make the choices and those choices should never be left to a small group of politicians.

Letter To The Editor

We in the printing field are but the latest victim of the trade war, in fact....in 1985 and 1986, the United States, for the first time since World War I, bought more books from foreign countries than we sold to foreign countries.

Will it get worse...?? It may very well be....foreign companies are already buying American printing plants and are threatening to take the printing work back to their foreign countries. Is this the first step in the destruction of an American Industry?

In the printing field alone, due to the Manufacturing Clause being allowed to expire last year, some 367,000 jobs are on the line, with many already being lost.

But we can fight it...we can stop it. On Sept. 22, 1987, Sen. Alan Dixon (D-Ill.) will introduce legislation which will bring back the Manufacturing Clause of the U.S. Copyright Act.

We therefore, respectfully request your support and that of your readers. Please write or phone your Senators, ask them to sign onto the bill as cosponsors before Sen. Dixon introduces the legislation on Sept. 22, 1987.

Let us make this in bringing back jobs to Americans, lets make this a step in closing the gap between American exports and foreign imports, lets put America back into the export business and bring back those lost jobs.

DOCTORS FORUM

By Dr. Chris Bowman

Today's article deals with eye injuries. Eye injuries can be extremely painful if the eyeball is scraped because the nerve fibers to the eye are very sensitive. A person's eye will usually shut tightly making examination difficult. The goal of first aid in an eye injury is directed at protecting the eye from further damage, along with decreasing the swelling. First cover the eye with sterile gauze to avoid further damage. Children with eye injuries should have their hands secured so they cannot touch the eye. If swelling is present apply an ice pack to decrease the swelling. Follow-up with your family physician immediately with any eye injury.

Small objects in the eye usually result in tearing, blinking and a discomfort along with a sensation of something in the eye. The first aid starts by laying the person on their back. Clasp the upper eyelash between the thumb and index finger and fold the lid back over a cotton swab. Have the person look down and rinse the eye with plain lukewarm water for at least five minutes. If the object cannot be washed out, immediately call your family doctor.

Matijevich receives fire safety award

The Illinois Fire Safety Alliance, at its Annual Fire Prevention Week Awards Program in Hickory Hills, presented State Rep. John S. Matijevich (D-North Chicago) a 1987 Special Recognition Award.

The award was presented to Matijevich by Rockford Fire Chief William Baylor, also president of the Illinois Fire Chiefs Assn. Baylor said that the Smoke Detector Act sponsored by Rep. Matijevich will become the most significant tool ever enacted to promote fire safety.

Tom Quillen, Skokie Fire Chief and president of the Alliance, said that was formed in 1982 as a smoke detector awareness committee. He said that the Alliance has expanded to serve as a resource exchange to promote programs to promote fire and life safety. He also hailed Matijevich's work in behalf of fire prevention.

Attending the event were 450 Illinois fire chiefs, fire prevention personnel and other fire safety leaders. Matijevich expressed appreciation to the many groups which spearheaded the bill, including the Illinois Fire Chiefs Assn., the Chicago Fire Dept., the Illinois Fire Inspectors Assn., the State Fire Marshal's Office and firefighters organizations.

"The real winners are people whose lives will be saved," Matijevich said, "people who will install fire detectors to protect their lives and the lives of others."

He praised the commitment of individuals who helped him pass the bill, singling out Lt. Tom O'Connell of the Chicago Fire Dept. Fire Prevention Bureau, Oakbrook Fire Chief James Clark, Chief Bill Baylor, Bolingbrook Fire Chief Terry Droogan, who headed the fire chiefs' legislative committee, and Chuck Perkey, Waukegan firefighter.

"These leaders in the fire service, and so many others, never gave up until Illinois finally joined 38 other states to adopt state-wide smoke detector law," Matijevich said.

Commissioner Tom Roche, who heads the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Chicago Fire Dept., served as master of ceremonies of the program. Other awards included a corporate responsibility award to McDonalds Corp., Fire Prevention Poster Contest Awards to students from around the state, fire prevention and safety awards to fire departments in population categories in Illinois, and Citizen Bravery Awards.

A key note address by Chicago Fire Commissioner Louis Galante stressed the need to continue the shared and cooperative approach in fire prevention. He said that the fire service has a common interest and that is to help save lives and property.

Galante said that where communities have passed smoke detector ordinances, it has been documented that lives have been saved, so Illinois stands to benefit from this law so actively pursued by the Illinois Fire Safety Alliance.

"One of the stated goals of the Alliance is to have a smoke detector in every home in Illinois, and you have achieved a giant stride toward that end by the passage of the smoke detector law," said Galante.

Suggestion to save on AIDS testing

Sen. Adeline J. Georakis (R-Zion) says she strongly supports a suggestion from a Winthrop Harbor constituent to save couples money on AIDS premarital tests and help blood banks at the same time.

Pamela D. Bogdala of Winthrop Harbor wrote Sen. Geo-Karis with the idea that couples planning to marry could save the cost of the now-required AIDS tests by donating blood to a blood bank. She pointed out that blood banks automatically test donor blood for AIDS, so couples could have the required premarital tests while bolstering the supply of blood available for emergency and surgical patients.

"This suggestion makes good sense to me," said Sen. Geo-Karis, who supported the new law requiring AIDS tests for couples planning to marry, as a way to fight the AIDS epidemic.

Sen. Geo-Karis said she believes a method could be worked out so that blood banks could complete the necessary paperwork for premarital tests. "There is a crying need for blood, so I feel certain blood bank personnel would be happy to help with this," she said. She emphasized that blood donations would be entirely voluntary. "Obviously, couples who do not wish to give blood would still go to their doctor or a Health Dept. facility for the tests," she said.

Enrollment reaches record high at Lakeshore campus

Enrollment at the College of Lake County's Lakeshore campus has reached an all-time high.

Eleanor Murkey, director of the Lakeshore campus has told the college's board of trustees that enrollment at Lakeshore last spring was 1,942, compared to 1,320 the previous spring. She said that a fall, 1987 10th day enrollment figure was 1,706, giving a projected enrollment of 2,421 for the entire semester. In 1985, the enrollment at the Waukegan branch campus was at 821.

Murkey also provided a chart showing the breakdowns of fall enrollment by programs of study. "You may be surprised to learn that 54 percent of our students are in degree programs - associate of arts and associate of applied science - while 33 percent are in adult basic education and continuing education," Murkey said at a CLC board meeting.

As part of its commitment to provide service to the community, the Lakeshore Campus also allows community groups and organizations to use the building during regular operating hours at no cost. During the 1986-87 academic year, 110 groups used the facilities for events attended by 5,264 people, according to Murkey.

The director highlighted the Lakeshore Learning Assistance Center, where enrollment in module instruction is reading, writing and math is up 66 percent counseling services, which are available 32 hours per week.

"At Lakeshore, the programming is designed to serve adults seeking new choices and personalized attention in planning their education," Murkey said.

CLC General Advisory Council elects Byrne, Neuman

Robert Byrne of Waukegan was elected chairperson of the College of Lake County General Advisory Council during the group's first meeting of the academic year on Sept. 17. Werner Neuman, a resident of Long Grove, was elected vice chairperson.

Byrne owns and operates Byrne Business Consulting, a New York-based consulting firm, and is president of the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce. For the last six years, he has served as honorary chairman of Lake/McHenry counties Toys for Tots. Active in a variety of business, civic and political organizations, Byrne begins his third year on the Advisory Council and served as vice chairperson last year.

Neuman, also in his third year on the Advisory Council, is president and chairman of the board of CORCOM, Inc. in Libertyville. He is on the Board of Directors of IIT, Electronic Industries Assn. and the Hammond Co.

Special recognition was also given to Virginia Schulte, the outgoing chairperson, during the meeting.

The General Advisory Council serves in an advisory capacity to the CLC administration and Board of Trustees on the complete educational program of the college. The Council meets four times each academic year to discuss topics such as curriculum planning, community needs assessment, financial support, student services and college relationships with business, industry and public service institutions within Dist. -532.

Members, who are representative on the business, industrial, public service and professional segments of the community, must be residents of Lake County and are appointed to staggered three-year terms. Members may be reappointed for an additional term but may not serve more than two terms.

Hypertension program gets $25,000 grant

The Lake County Health Dept. is one of 47 departments statewide to win grants for hypertension control programs.

Lake County received $25,000 for its program. Funds are from the Federal Preventive Health and Health Services Block Grant.

The money will be used to support local comprehensive hypertension control programs including outreach, screening, detection, referral, counseling and follow-up.

Hypertension is a major risk factor for cardiovascular disease, the leading cause of death in Illinois. Hypertension is also a major risk factor for diseases of the kidney and eye, and a serious complication of diabetes.

It is estimated that more than two million Illinois residents are hypertensive.

AIDS policy package to develop contact tracing

A comprehensive AIDS policy package, an innovative new tax-sheltered college savings program, a "grass tax" giving law enforcement new tool to go after drug pushers and major groundwater protection legislation all were signed into law during the past week, according to the Republican Caucus chair Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion).

The foundation of the multi-bill AIDS package is Senate Bill 651, Sen. Geo-Karis said, which directs state public health officials to develop a program of contact tracing. Under contact tracing, persons who test positive for the AIDS virus will be asked to provide a confidential listing of past sexual partners, so that those individuals may be tested and warned of the potential risks of exposure and transmission of the disease. The measure also provides limited quarantine powers for extreme cases.

A companion measure (HB 2044) provides for pre-marital AIDS tests. Other measures in the AIDS package provide strict confidentiality protections for AIDS victims and encourages AIDS education programs.

Sen. Geo-Karis said the college savings program (SB 2) will enable parents to purchase special Baccalaureate Savings Act bonds, with the interest on those bonds sheltered from state and federal taxes. In addition, parents will be able to invest up to $25,000 in the bonds without affecting a student's eligibility for state financial aid. The bonds are expected to be available beginning next spring.

The illegal drugs tax is not designed to raise revenue for the state, but instead to give police another means of going after pushers. Under SB 1154, all illegal drugs must carry a special tax stamp sold by the state. Persons caught with drugs will not only face existing penalties for possessing or selling drugs, but will also face tax evasion charges if they do not have the tax stamps.

By bringing tax evasion laws into the fight against illegal drugs, it will be easier for law enforcement officials to seize the assets of drug dealers.

The groundwater protection legislation (SB 1482) establishes a state policy to restore, preserve and enhance groundwater resources in Illinois. It includes a July 1, 1989 deadline for developing comprehensive state groundwater quality standards, an immediate adoption of minimum and maximum setback zones to assure proper separation of groundwater from contaminants, a well site survey to determine groundwater needs and potential hazards for Illinois communities and development of standards that will be used to restrict business and other activities that could contaminate groundwater.

Dozens of other bills were acted on by Gov. Thompson during the week, including the following:

Bail Bond (SB 28)--Codifies the provisions of the Bail Denial Amendment to the state constitution, which was adopted by voters last November. The bail amendment allows judges to deny bail to persons who pose a real and present threat to the safety of others.

Prison Contraband (SB 508)--Increases the penalties and closes loopholes in state laws regarding the possession of drugs and weapons in prisons and jails. Makes it a Class X felony (6-30 years) to have firearms, ammunition or explosives in a state prison. Possession of drugs will become a Class 4 felony (1-3 years).

Cooperative Schools (SB 597)--This bill provides an alternative to school consolidation by giving school districts the ability to create a regional high school that would serve students from more than one unit school district. The regional high school would be governed by a special school board made up of representatives from the individual school districts.

Credit Cards (SB 400)--Requires the state Commissioner of Banks and Trusts to collect information about credit card rates and fees and serve as a central clearing house for consumers wanting to compare shop for credit cards.

Child Protection (SB 950)--Requires courts to issue expanded orders of protection that will prevent contact between a child and any person who has been convicted of violent offenses. Under this measure, it would be a violation of the court order for a person to allow a convicted offender into a home where an abused child is present.

Firearms (HB 1040)--Makes it a Class 4 felony to shoot a gun while committing an assault.

Vicious Dogs (HB 1500)--Makes it illegal to keep vicious dogs unless the dog is kept in an enclosed pen or on a run line.

Topsoil (SB 1228)--Creates an Illinois Conservation Enhancement Act to encourage soil conservation. The program would provide incentives for farmers to take marginal cropland out of production.

DUI Arrests (SB 1283)--Allows police officers to use preliminary breath tests to screen suspected drunk drivers, before taking the suspect in for more extensive tests. This will save officers time in the field.

Hazardous Waste (HB 1496, 1497)--The first bill makes it easier to prosecute toxic waste dumpers by requiring that the suspect simply "know" the action will cause harm, rather than the previous and more difficult to prove standard--"conscious disregard" of safety. The second measure removes economic incentives for toxic waste polluters by requiring them to forfeit any profit or savings they earned when they broke the law instead of disposing of the materials safely.

Southwest Illinois (HB 301)--Creates a Southwest Illinois Development Authority to promote commercial and recreational growth in Madison and St. Clair Counties. The authority will have the power to issue revenue bonds to finance construction and economic development projects within the two-county area.

Nighttime Cubs Games (SB 958)--Exempts post-season and All-Star basketball games from noise pollution restrictions that effectively prevent nighttime baseball at Wrigley Field in Chicago. The noise pollution regulations will remain in effect during regular season games.

Pull Tabs (SB 218)--Prohibits the sale of beverage containers with detachable metal ring tops. The tops are a safety hazard and contribute to litter problems.

Treatment Costs (HB 2577)--Allows courts to order a sexual offender to pay the victim's costs of medical, psychological and rehabilitative treatment.

Senior Protection (SB 115)--Increases the penalties for robbery and sexual abuse if the victim is over age 60 or handicapped.

Blood Types (HB 730)--Requires that an infant's blood type be listed on the birth certificate. Including the blood type will help law enforcement officials to identify missing children.

New laws toughen penalty for repeat DUI offenders

Three bills that would strengthen Illinois' existing drunk driving laws and send a strong message to manufacturers, sellers and users of false identification cards were signed into law this week, according to state Rep. William Peterson (R-Long Grove).

Peterson said the legislation would toughen penalties for repeat drunk driving offenders and crack down on the use of false identification cards used to illegally buy alcohol. To curb the manufacture, sales and use of false ID cards, House Bill 2699 and Senate Bill 1472 make it a Class A misdemeanor to sell ID cards without requiring the applicants to display proper identification. Punishment would be less than one year in jail and/or up to a $1,000 fine.

The new laws, which become effective Jan. 1, 1988, would also require unofficial cards to state: "This is not an official Illinois Identification Card or Illinois Disabled Person Identification Card" in black lettering on the photo side of the card. Other provisions of the bill specify photo location and card size.

Drivers who continually drink and drive could lose their driving privileges for up to six years under other legislation signed by the Governor.

Provisions of House Bill 2700 would result in revocation of driving privileges for not less than three years for a second DUI conviction, reckless homicide or leaving an accident scene involving death or personal injuries within a 20-year period.

A third conviction would increase the period of revocation to six years, and the third offense would be a Class 4 felony, punishable by one to three years in jail and/or up to a $10,000 fine. The new law becomes effective Jan. 1, 1988.

Richmond-Burton's 1986 team holds the state record for fewest rushing yards given up in one season. The Rockets surrendered just 267 yards in nine games last year.

Health Dept. offers flu shots

The influenza (flu) season is approaching. Flu inoculations will be available from the Lake County Health Dept. at the Round Lake Senior Center, 814 Hart Rd., Round Lake on Friday, Oct. 9 from 10 a.m. to noon. The health department nurses will interview each individual requesting inoculation and under certain circumstances the inoculation may be deferred or the person may be referred to their physician. Individuals 65 years of age and older and children and teenagers who receive long-term aspirin therapy are at increased risk for complications of the flu. For further information, call (312) 360-6761.

Rainbow trout in stock at Lakewood

Banana Lake in Lakewood Forest Preserve in Wauconda is one of 33 lakes statewide which will be stocked with rainbow trout by the Illinois Dept. of Conservation (IDOC). Approximately 70,000 trout will be divided among the 33 lakes.

The stocking, which will go on during October, is part of the Catchable Trout Program according to Mike Conlin, chief of the division of fisheries for IDOC.

Conlin said fishing for the trout will begin at 5 a.m. Oct. 17 at most sites.

Anglers will be prohibited from taking trout at Banana Lake until Oct. 17. After the opening, fishermen may take trout until the supply is exhausted. There is a daily creel limit of five trout per angler.

To take trout, anglers must have a fishing license and salmon stamp unless exempted by age or disability. Licenses and stamps are available from sporting goods stores, vendors and sporting good outlets near the lakes or from IDOC regional offices.

SPORTS BRIEFS

What happened?

If Lake County football fans can remember back five weeks, they will remember the success the Panthers, Bears, Blue Devils, Sequoits, Warhawks, Patriots, Rams, Bulldogs (Wauconda and Grant), Mustangs, Skyhawks, Corsairs enjoyed during week one. The teams went 7-5, sparking hopes of a banner season.

Things went bleaker in week two against the big, bad teams that don't call Lake or McHenry County home. And since, the teams lost 20 of 27 games. Somehow, that does not bode well for any familiar teams which make the playoffs.

At any rate, Warren's win over Antioch at Antioch's home field brought back the Blue Devils' hopes for playoffs as Warren is now 3-3 with the toughest teams already a part of the Blue Devils' past. Antioch slipped to 3-3 and cannot afford to lose another game.

In the Northwest Suburban, Grant has answered any questions about how much the Bulldogs wish to return to post-season action. Although the Bulldogs will not defend their NWSC title this year, playoff hopes look brighter after a 28-6 slaughter of Johnsbury. The Bulldogs host Lake Zurich Oct. 16 in a key match-up for both team's post-season chances.

Surprise team

Perhaps long-standing North Suburban Conference fans should be sitting down when they read the following.

North Chicago has a legitimate shot at the playoffs.

No, that was not a misprint, but coach Wayne Fiedler has turned the program around in seven weeks. The Warhawks reached better than .500 for the first time in more than a decade with an 18-6 win over Niles North last week. Now comes the tough part - to reach the playoffs, North Chicago must beat either league leading Lake Forest on Halloween or Libertyville (5-1) next week and not forget about beating Mundelein in between. A tall order indeed, but doable.

Star 'Care' Bear

Gurnee residents can take special pride in watching the 'Care' Bears play as the regulars picket.

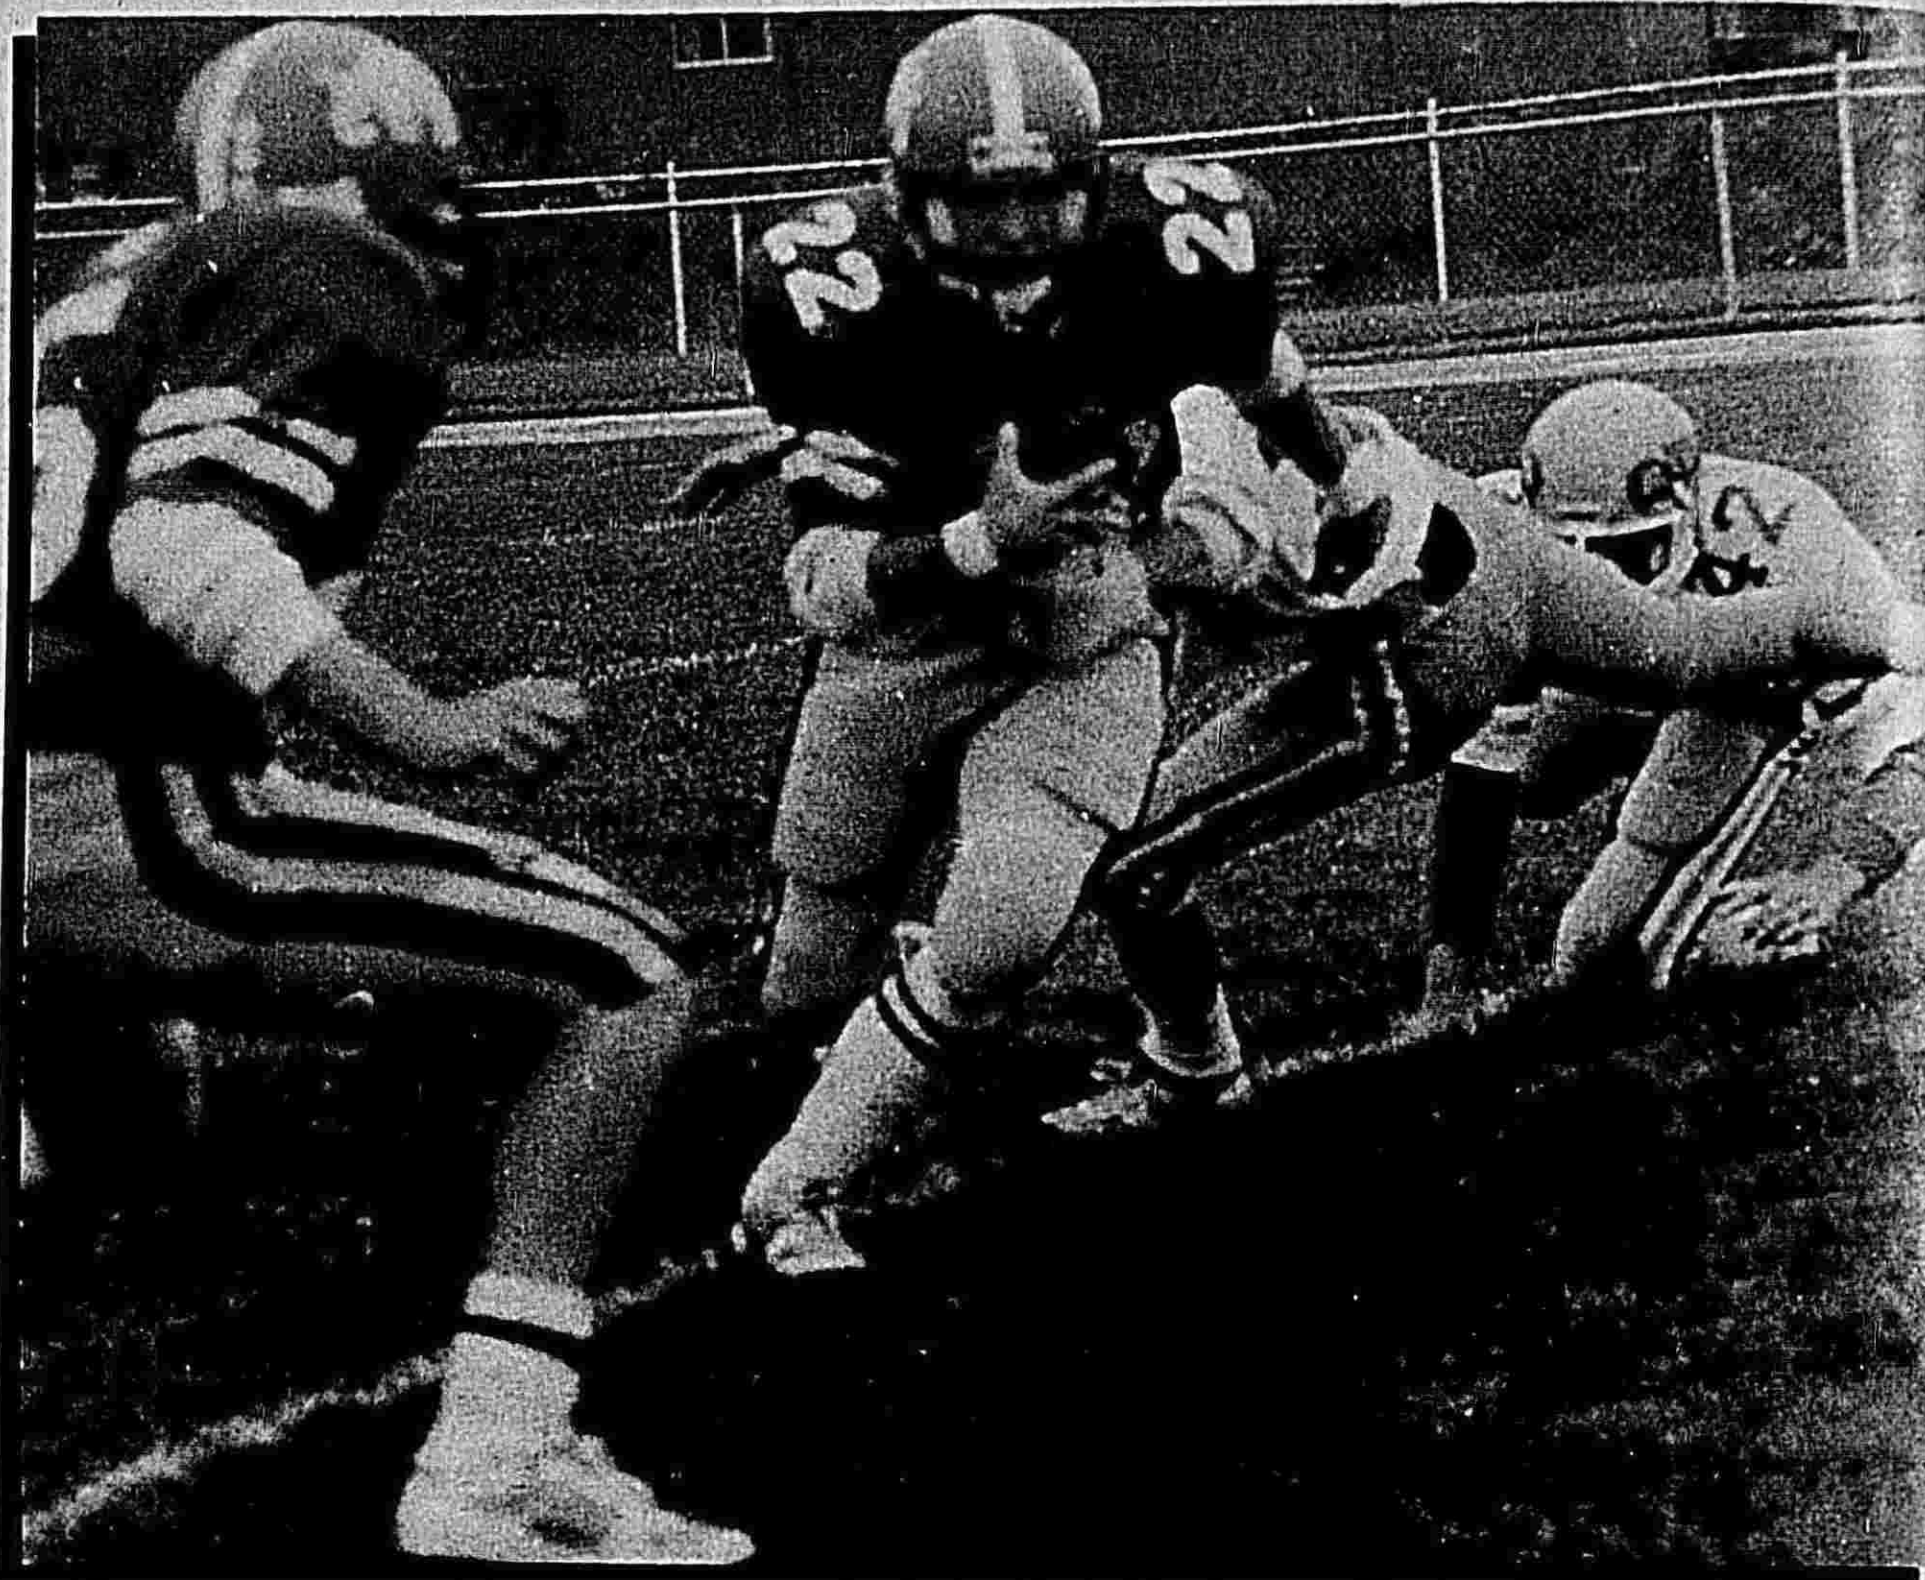

Jim Althoff, a McHenry High graduate and present Gurnee resident, is now earning coach Mike Ditka's plaudits. The defense had 18 sacks in the first two wins over replacement teams. He told WGN radio in a post-game interview that for many years he watched the Bears from the stands in Soldier Field.

By the way, if the strike lasts until the Super Bowl, will the game be renamed Replacement Bowl I?

CLC picks coach

Angelo Kyle of Waukegan will be the new women's basketball coach at the College of Lake County this winter. Kyle, presently the coordinator of special projects at CLC's Lakeshore Campus, replaces Chuck Schramm.

Kyle was head coach of the freshman basketball team at North Chicago from 1982 to this year. Kyle was a member of the Tuskegee University basketball team from 1975 to 1979 and played on the Waukegan East High School team which reached the quarterfinals of the state tournament in 1975.

Frystak breaking loose

Carmel reaches .500; eyes bid for playoffs

Let the new season begin.

That's the way the Carmel Corsairs are looking at the final three games of the regular season starting with a home game Oct. 16 against St. Viator.

"We played a good game against Joliet Catholic but lost. We want to start winning. Now we have a really big game and we have to get up for St. Viator," Carmel coach Mike Fitzgibbons said moments after the Corsairs had knocked off Holy Cross 17-0 at home. The win evened Carmel's record at 3-3 overall, 2-2 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference. The win also rejuvenated Carmel's pre-season hopes of playing on Wednesday - meaning reaching the post-season playoffs.

St. Viator comes into the contest with the same record as Carmel after giving league power Joliet Catholic a scare. But after allowing St. Viator a first quarter touchdown, St. Catholic scored four touchdowns to win 25-15.

For Carmel, the win over the Crusaders was a mixture of first-half defense and second-half offense. The Corsairs' defense held the visitors in check before the hosts unleashed the passing game behind quarterback Thad Sutter, who completed seven of 16 passes for 67 yards and threw for two touchdowns.

"If anything else is coming out, it is that Thad Sutter is getting better and better every week," Fitzgibbons said.

Defensively, the highlight came in the fourth quarter. With Carmel ahead 9-0, Jeff Zgonina picked up a St. Viator fumble deep in Carmel territory. He rambled for some 70 plus yards before running out of steam.

"He's a quality linebacker and it shows. He makes good plays. They have to worry about Jeff," Fitzgibbons said.

"We came out so pumped up we were running by plays on defense and over-doing things on offense. At halftime we just concentrated on the fact that we are a good football team," Fitzgibbons said.

The Corsairs faced a fourth-and-three predicament but then Carmel went to its list of fancy plays. Halfback Bob May completed a pass to Robb Koseor at the Holy Cross 16.

"It was the first time he ever threw the ball maybe since grammar school. He did a nice job there under pressure," Fitzgibbons said of May.

Three plays later, Sutter, with the offensive line presenting a formidable wall of blockers, tossed a nine-yard pass to Koseor.

After a Carmel penalty and a run, Sutter tossed a six-yard TD pass to Manahan, who outmaneuvered Holy Cross defenders for a 16-0 Carmel lead with 9:06 left.

Panthers, Skyhawks both seek respect, win

by DAN BECKER

After posting losses during the weekend, Johnsbury and Round Lake will both fight to stay out of the cellar when they play a conference game at Johnsbury on Saturday.

The Panthers tried pulling out a last-second win with an onside kick, but still came up short in a 21-14 loss to the Hurricanes.

"We're a scrappy team," said Panthers head coach Mike Dunn. "We will fight all the way with injuries and whatever else. We always fight hard and we never give up."

The tone of the game was set on the Hurricanes first possession when they scored on a five-yard-run by senior Tony Lawrence. The scoring drive drove the Hurricanes 36-yards down the field in four plays. The major brunt of the yardage in the scoring drive came from Lawrence, who started the drive with a 13-yard reception from Hurricane quarterback Tim Harlieb. Lawrence then picked up another 16 yards on a sweeping run, and brought the Hurricanes down to the Panther's seven-yard-line.

The Hurricanes posted another score on the board in the second quarter on a five-yard bloop pass to Chris Stolle. The drive took the Hurricanes 61 yards down field in 10 plays. Four completions and a quarterback keeper by Harlieb kept the Hurricanes in control of the clock. Stolle remained the primary yard-gainer with four runs and three receptions in the drive. Stolle picked up more than 40-yards of the 61 yard drive.

Marian Central tried to put another three points on the board before the half-ended with a 30-yard field goal attempt, but a flubbed snap and a tackle by Panther's Tom Galuszka erased the three point try.

The Panthers chalked up their first score on an 80 yard drive in the fourth quarter. Panther quarterback Todd Collis threw near a 40-yard bomb to Bryan Jewell who was standing alone near the end-zone after burning a Hurricane defender. The Panthers put two points on the board after a conversion, making the score 21-8.

Grant, Bears tilt has playoff chances on line for both teams

Playoff hopes of both Grant and Lake Zurich will be on the line when the Bears host the Bulldogs Oct. 16. Game time in Lake Zurich is 7:30 p.m.

Grant is coming off an impressive 28-6 win over Johnsburg which gave the Bulldogs a 4-2 record, 1 in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

Lake Zurich, meanwhile, placed itself in a must-win situation following a 18-14 loss to Marengo which dropped the Bears' mark to 3-3.

"They just dominated us," Johnsburg coach Mike Roberts said after the loss at Grant.

The Bulldogs did not waste any time in asserting themselves for a Homecoming win. Grant led 21-0 at halftime as Kevin Frystak and Dave Essler led the ground game.

Mike Rogowski

Frystak broke loose for several big gains in the first half as the offensive line provided strong blocking.

After both teams had a possession, Grant had the ball at its own 41. Frystak rambled for a 16-yard gain on first down and later caught a pass from Jim McGeever that brought the ball to the five.

After a Johnsburg penalty, Essler dove in from the two. An extra point by Dave Rudkin gave the hosts a 7-0 lead with 5:27 left in the quarter.

Johnsburg had a short punt and Grant took over at the Skyhawks 31. Two plays later, Frystak broke free in the Johnsburg secondary for a 27-yard touchdown and a 14-0 lead late in the first quarter.

The Bulldogs put together a four-minute march for their third touchdown, in the second quarter.

Frystak did most of the damage, although quarterback Joe Walk gaining 16 yards on a reverse. Frystak caught a pass and outran four Johnsburg defenders to the visitors' four.

That is where he caught a TD toss from McGeever that gave Grant a 21-0 lead with 6:24 left in the half.

For Johnsburg, the first half was a repeat of the week before as penalties stopped the Skyhawks. By halftime, Johnsburg had 45 yards in penalties.

"Penalties and playing with a lack of emotion are our two biggest weaknesses this year," Roberts said.

In the second half, Johnsburg broke the shutout when Rob Davis fell on a fumble in the Grant end zone.

Grant answered that score, though, when McGeever plunged over from the one with less than a minute remaining in the game.

No touchdowns

Six teams in Illinois high school football history have not surrendered a touchdown for an entire year. They are: Arcola (1934), Mooseheart (1925), Wheaton (1928), Ottawa Twp. (1966), Tremont (1977) and Hillsboro (1930).

CLC cross country prepare for regional

The College of Lake County cross country team will travel to Parkside Oct. 17 for a meet against unfamiliar opponents.

The Lancers are coming off a successful Oakton Invite in which both the men's and women's team brought home trophies. The women's team was second and the men's team was third.

In the women's meet, Triton edged CLC 56-60 while Wright and Oakton both tied with 70.

In the men's division, Oakton had 37 points, Wright was second with 62, CLC third with 90 and Concordia had 91.

Runners seek title

The regular cross country season has ended for the Bulldogs, who now are preparing for three meets of the season: the Northwest Suburban Conference meet, regional meet and sectional meet.

The girls team has been successful in the regular season, posting a perfect 10-0 record in dual meets. The Bulldogs have won 20 conference dual meets in a row over the last four seasons and have either shared or won the last three conference championships.

In the last dual meet of the regular season, they defeated Lake Zurich 15-0. Grant had the first eight runners in the race as Cindy Edwards led the way. She was followed by Nicole Czechowski, Lori Loman, Jenny Loring, Janice Selle, Debbie Selle, Pam Short and Jenny Soles.

The girls will try and defend their conference title at Hart's Hill, Round Lake's home course, for the NWSC league meet.

The boys finished the season 5-5 overall and 2-3 in dual meets. In the last dual meet of the season against Lake Zurich, the Bulldogs lost 26-33 even though the first three runners ran strong races. Mike Russo of Grant won the race. Hw was followed by Tod Rejhalec in third place and Ted Dawson in sixth. Kyle Rejholic, Rob Warden and Brian Sprague rounded out Grant's squad.

The frosh-soph boys race finished on a strong note, defeating Lake Zurich 26-29 to finish tied with the Bears for the conference title. Vince Weber of Grant won the race. John Poprawski finished in third place; Scott Barrett-Smith was sixth, Eric Kohler seventh and Justin Griffin ninth.

Sequoits aim to spoil Pats' Homecoming, seek playoff bid

Antioch football coach Steve Wapon probably spent the week at practice reminding the Sequoits of a simple fact.

There are four quarters in a high school football game, not two. The Sequoits will be hoping to spoil Stevenson's Homecoming and at the same time keep their playoff hopes alive in an Oct. 17 battle in Prairie View.

"We dug a hole so deep for ourselves, you could put a dump truck in it," Wapon said following a 16-14 loss to Warren.

The loss gave both teams 3-3 records.

After falling behind 16-0 in the first half, the home Sequoits rallied to make it close in the second half. David Wick scored two touchdowns en route to a 173-yard day.

"It was two entirely different games," Wapon said.

In the first "game", Warren dominated thanks to an effective passing game behind quarterback Derek Shelton. Shelton finished with 127 yards in passing while Antioch was held to 51 yards in passing yards.

Warren scored its first touchdown as Dave

Davis scored from six yards out with 2:23 left in the first quarter. The point-after was no good.

In the second quarter, Shelton burst home from one-yard out on a fourth-and-one play. Darrin Leith kicked the extra point.

Later in the quarter, Leith completed Warren's scoring with a 22-yard field goal.

The second half was indeed Antioch's game.

Antioch started at their own 24 after the second-half kickoff. Twelve plays later, Wick tallied from six-yards out. Antioch tried for a two-point conversion and Wick did the honors, making it 16-6.

In the fourth quarter, Wick capped off a 16-play drive with a one-yard run.

In Stevenson, Antioch will be facing a Stevenson team which it all together in a 13-0 win over Zion-Benton. The win upped the Patriots' record to 2-4.

"They are a very talented football team. They have excellent speed at the skill positions," Wapon said.

Both teams had trouble getting any offense going in the first three quarters. Chris Holder, one of the backs Antioch will have to stop, scored from two-yards out for a 7-0 Stevenson lead on the first play of the final quarter. Holder scored Stevenson's second touchdown from three yards out for a 13-0 lead with just under two minutes remaining.

Regionals are all set

Lake County sports teams are concentrating on regional action for fall sports now that regular seasons have concluded.

In golf, Lake Zurich will be at the Jacobs sectional. Mundelein, Carmel, Warren, Grayslake, Grant, Antioch, Round Lake, Stevenson and Wauconda will be at Lake Forest's sectional Oct. 16 and 17.

In soccer, most teams will be at regional "D" of Palatine's sectional. Antioch, Grayslake, Lake Zurich, Carmel, Mundelein, Round Lake and Wauconda are all assigned to the meet.

Good news about prostate cancer.

More than 90,000 men were diagnosed last year with prostate cancer-and more than 26,000 died. But, prostate cancer can be cured if detected early.

The good news for Lake County is new ultrasound detection equipment in the area-now available as part of a comprehensive program for the evaluation of prostate diseases and disorders.

The program offers complete diagnostic and treatment capabilities, including biopsies which can be performed without the need for hospitalization.

Victory over Mundelein top now priority for Blue Devils

Warren's football team may still be in the hunt for a playoff bid, but that is not the highest priority for the Blue Devils.

"We have our backs against the wall but we're not even talking about the playoffs. I've said this before, but this team is good enough to beat anyone and good enough to lose to anyone," Warren coach Reggie Hughes said.

So for the Blue Devils, the Oct. 17 Homecoming game against Mundelein is priority No. 1. Warren improved to 3-3 and brought its hopes of post-season play back-to-life with a 16-14 win at Antioch last week. Mundelein, 2-4 and out of the playoff picture, lost to Libertyville 16-0.

Hughes knows he will have to find a way for his offensive and defensive line to contend with the Mustangs, several weighing in at more than 200 pounds.

"Libertyville was big but I really think Mundelein is bigger," Hughes said.

The offensive line will be looking for its second strong game in order to give quarterback Derek Shelton room to maneuver.

"We really worked hard on the offensive line. They were embarrassed against Zion (a 7-0 overtime loss). We were able to do things with the perimeter game that we did not think we were able to do because we of our lack of team speed," Hughes said.

Warren dominated the first half while the Sequoias took over in the second.

Dave Davis scored Warren's first touchdown, from six yards out with 2:23 left in the first quarter.

Shelton plunged home from the one later in the quarter.

The kicking game helped the Blue Devils provide the difference for the second time in Warren's three wins. Darrin Leith booted a 22-yard field goal late in the first half and added an extra point.

CLC netters, kikers look to post-season success

by CHRIS EWERT

On Friday and Saturday, Oct. 22 and 23, the CLC women's tennis team will be competing in regional play at Lisle.

The Lancers will be coming off a second-place finish Oct. 9 at the Skyway Conference meet. Top honors belong to CLC's Teresa Foley. Foley won the No. 1 singles spot in addition to the MVP award of the Skyway Conference. Other finalists for CLC include: No. 2 singles, Donna Kirschbaum; No. 4 singles, Chris DiVincenzo; No. 1 doubles, Foley and Kirschbaum; No. 2 doubles, DiVincenzo and Mack and No. 3 doubles, Kathleen Asplund and Julie Flood. At No. 3 singles, Lynn Mack was a semi-finalist.

Meanwhile at CLC, the soccer team is looking forward to the Region IV tournament Oct. 24 and 25.

After a series of losses, the Lancers won the Bethany Lutheran Tournament in Mankato, MN. CLC won the title game over South Dakota State 6-0.

"It was an exciting game," CLC coach Dave Beck said after a 2-1 win over Bethany in double overtime.

CLC and Bethany tied 1-1 at the end of regulation play. CLC's Chris Larson scored to give the Lancers a 2-1 win.

CLC's goalie Jim Peron won the tournament's Most Valuable Player award. Louis Holguin and Jeff Taylor were also chosen as all-tournament players.

In volleyball, coach Laura Phillip's team is aiming for a strong showing at the Skyway Conference meet Oct. 24.

Prior to sectional play, the Lancers will meet DuPage in an away match Oct. 27 at 6 p.m. and battle Moraine Valley at home Oct. 29 at 5 p.m.

In Skyway matches, CLC beat Morton.
